Cook Hall—almost as significant a landmark as Old Main. Rugged and medieval, it has a charm all its own. Business majors know it well.

Table of Contents

In the beginning.....pages 16-35

A new student arrives on the campus and is initiated by Orientation. Student life is of great importance to him. Parading his loyalty, he cheers the team to victory and welcomes back alums at Homecoming.

In the silence of winter.....pages 36-57

The student is now interested in basketball and individual sports. He finds a new kind of learning in music and drama. Christmas provides rest and rejuvenation for the many activities yet to come as he continues at ISNU.

In view of the finale.....pages 58-81

From the fun of the carnival and circus, the Blackfriar show and the dances, our student becomes more serious as he sees other new students coming to take his place on College Day and as he prepares for Commencement.

In mutual interest.....pages 82-111

With his fellow students, the Isnuite has found a means of broadening his learning through organizations of interest to him.

In the sharing of learning....pages 112-193

Each department has offered our student the satisfaction of being ready to teach with a background of knowledge behind him. He is now ready to join the ranks of those who have chosen to become teachers.

An Index is an alphabetical list of things which have gone before. With this idea in mind we have recorded for you within the pages of this book the daily happenings of students at Illinois State Normal University.

We have followed you into the classrooms, observed you in student teaching, applauded your achievements, studied with you for final exams, lived with you, sat next to you at the events in Capen, danced past you at Big Fours, and talked with you in the Cage.

It has been another great year, and here you can live it again in story and in picture.

Snow and sleet enhance the view of our campus.

Whether it's for books, studying, or relaxing to beautiful music in the Carnegie Room, Milner Library is often sought by the ISNU student body.

Across the North Hall, home for the Index and Vidette offices and extra-curricular pigeons, houses chiefly English and geography classes.

Last years of old, old, Old Main—its Four Corners is still the center of campus news flashes, notices, and announcements.

Between six and eight young ladies studying home economics practice what they preach in the Rambo Home Management House.

Housing the executives of the university, the Administration Building is a hub of campus activity.

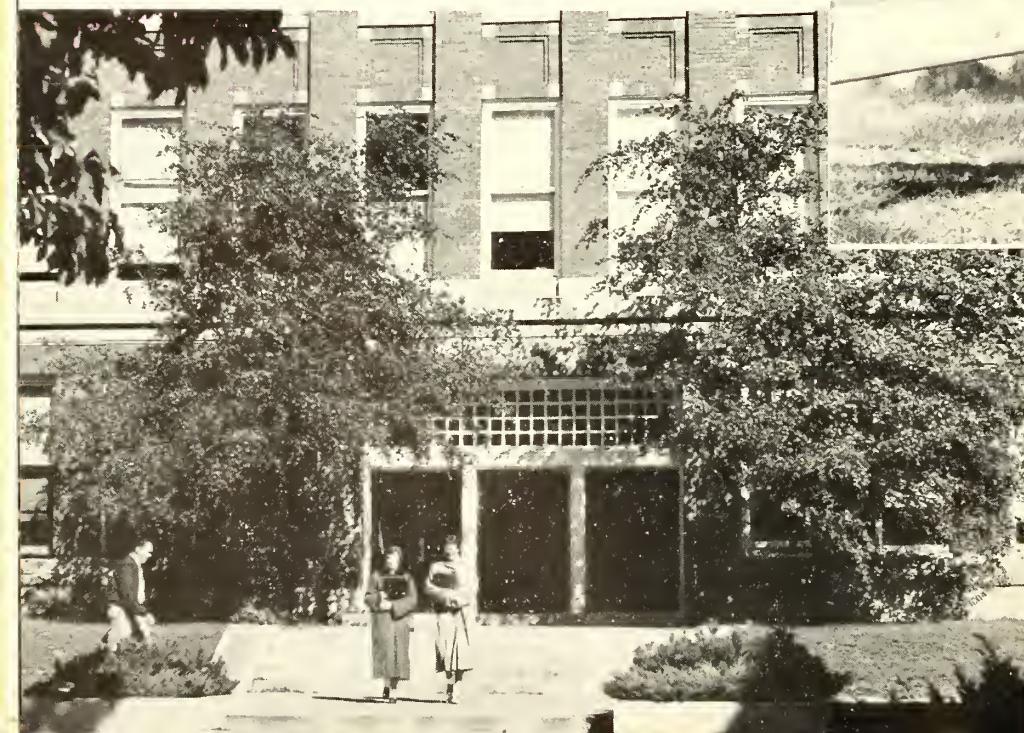

Adding to the beauty of the campus, University Farm lends outdoor atmosphere with all the modern conveniences of farm life.

Within the walls of the Felmley Hall of Science are the budding geniuses of tomorrow. Among the research equipment are the codovers of fourth floor and the museum piece, the dinosaur.

Metcalf Laboratory School is the abode of college, high school, and elementary students. Here student teachers work with experienced faculty to gain practical knowledge of classroom procedure.

McCormick Gymnasium, the house that sports built, is the home of Redbird trophies and athletic events.

The blue plush atmosphere of the Industrial Arts Building echoes the sounds of hammers and applause.

Unique in its purpose, the Special Education Building is a tribute to progress on the ISNU campus.

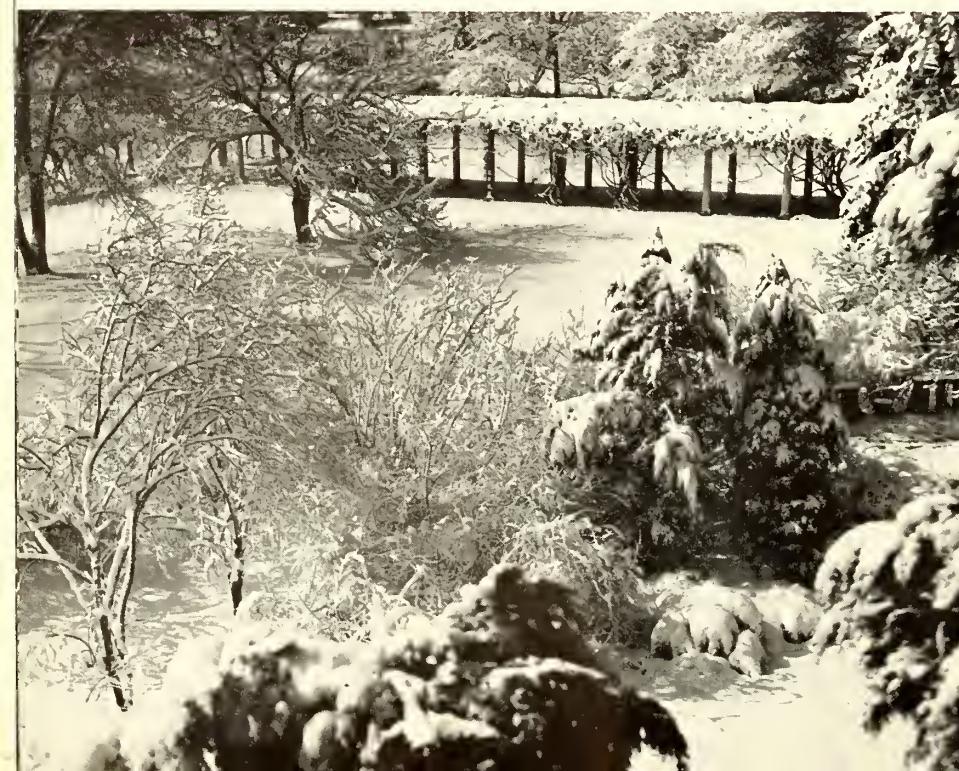

Providing living quarters for approximately fifty men, homey Smith Hall is probably the best example of an-campus fraternal living.

Living in Smith Hall

Gene Ethridge, Corl Stane, and Bob Wilson discover that studying is sometimes of lesser importance than friendly conversations.

Beautiful Smith Hall gardens display their mid-winter grandeur.

Starting a new policy next year, Fell Hall will house sophomore girls. The recent addition of the south wing and a fourth floor allow 256 freshmen girls to live there. Miss Isabelle Terrill and Miss Bette Soldwedel serve as directors of the hall.

and Fell Hall...

Judy Krueser and Helen Alkofer practice shoring a mirror before a coke date in Fell Hall's Coge. Learning to shore and to belong is part of living at Fell.

"Do you suppose this dress will look all right for the Louis Armstrong dance?" asks honor resident Cynthia Morris of the girls from her corridor. The thirty-five HR's at Fell find their association with the freshmen girls is one of friendly get-togethers and informal discussions.

In Barton Hall

The masquerade at Hollewe'en was one of Barton Hall's parties for the 150 sophomore girls who live there. The girls also had occasional corridor parties and formal dances to establish the unity of living that the dorm presents.

Informal living is stressed and often one can find the girls enjoying a good game of bridge. Here Carol Meardy, Carol Hoffman, and Miss Rylander, hall director, are waiting for Georgia Willis to name trumps.

Barton Hall, constructed in 1951, is decked out in finery especially for Dad's Day. The spacious hall will adopt a new policy of housing freshmen co-eds next year. In addition to Barton, a newly constructed dorm will also accommodate freshmen women.

and Dunn Hall

Jerry Porker, Russell Knudsen, Al Pizzamiglio, and Dick Schneider find the front desk a good place to congregate at any time.

Bill Dwyer, Roger King, and Director Walter Freouff read the evening paper in the lounge before dinner.

Resembling Barton Hall in nearly every respect, Dunn Hall has facilities to accommodate the same number of male residents.

Raymond W. Fairchild, Ph.D., LL.D.
President, Illinois State Normal University.

The strength of a man is measured by his support. Surely no man is more respected, admired, and loved than Dr. Raymond W. Fairchild, President of Illinois State Normal University since 1933. During these years, President Fairchild has become an integral part of campus life.

Even though attending Teachers College Board meetings and acting on visitation committees for other universities are enough to keep the average college president constantly occupied, the President of ISNU adjusted his schedule to meet with a student leader group semi-monthly.

Only because of prolonged illness, the President relinquished his duties during the past school year to Dean Arthur Larsen.

Administrative heads

Acting President Arthur Larsen directed the administrative policies in addition to retaining his responsibilities as Dean of the University.

"Umm, gaod!" say freshies and upperclassmen of the watermelon feed during Orientation Week.

Orientation -

The big day for Joe College has finally arrived! On Sunday, September 12, 1954, Joe helps his parents load the family auto with suitcases, boxes, etc., and motors to ISNU, where he will enroll as a freshman. An excited group of enthusiastic freshmen and their parents jam McCormick Gymnasium for the afternoon convocation. The box lunch on the beautiful ISNU campus gives the freshies their first taste of college life.

The entire week Joe and his fellow students take campus tours, go to various meetings, and struggle through the reading, social science, and psychological tests. Then the watermelon picnic (all he can eat, too!), church receptions, and the never-to-be-forgotten freshman and all-school mixers climax Joe's exciting festivities before he begins his grueling first registration.

On Sunday afternoon a very happy Joe sits at his desk and writes his parents a note which reads something like this: "Gee, but I'm having a great time. It looks as if I've really chosen the best college of them all—ISNU."

beginning to belong...

"May I have the next dance?" Timid freshies meet the upperclassmen at the all-school mixer.

John Dovik demonstrates the principles of physics to his U. High class in the Science Building.

A student becomes a teacher

Student and teacher—a role each senior plays sometime during his last year. Whether it be for nine weeks or two semesters, each senior gets a taste of what it is like to be a teacher.

Grading papers, making out tests, going to P.T.A. meetings, making lesson plans, and loving every minute of it, the student teacher experiences the satisfaction of watching his students progress under his guidance.

Making use of the facilities offered to the special education department, Gerold Studeboker helps a child who is hard of hearing.

Choosing to do her student teaching on campus, June Wannerstrom finds the Metcalf playground a valuable asset to the laboratory school.

Dr. Chris DeYaugn gives information to students from other lands at a meeting in front of Cook Hall.

ISNU's fame reaches into the far areas of the world. Enrolled this year are about eleven foreign students whose homelands range from Germany to British Guiana. Hawaii leads in representation with five students.

They select ISNU because it is a small school, a teacher training college, and a friendly campus.

Little difficulty is found in their adjustment to this campus. After attaining such essentials as slang and American customs, they soon take part in ISNU life.

Study, study, and more study is the motto of the 104 men and 53 women who are enrolled in the Graduate School at ISNU. Under the direction of the Graduate Council, the Graduate School provides programs for those who wish to become master teachers in secondary and elementary schools and junior colleges. Specific curricula are also available to those interested in supervision and administration and to those who wish to broaden their education without reference to a Master's degree in Education.

Foreign and graduate students at ISNU

Looking over a schedule of classes, Dr. Lorsen helps new graduate students make out their programs.

Robert Leoch, Dr. Lorson, and Dr. Norton discuss the third hour assembly's response to the racial prejudice issue with the speaker, Henry L. Kohn.

Renowned lecturers and dramatists impress

Eleanor Sykes Peters gives her interpretation of various poems during her assembly program.

Assembly—a word that will elicit a response from any student, in any field, at any time, at any place, and in any language. The reason? One hour each Wednesday is devoted to assemblies and skipping is frowned upon.

This year, however, we were fortunate enough to have a pleasant variety of programs. Student assemblies presented by Gamma Phi, Forensics, Orchestrion, Blackfriars, and the Music Department provided a refreshing lift for most assembly-goers. Lectures by outstanding speakers contributed much to our knowledge and understanding of current affairs and world problems.

An especially entertaining assembly was presented by an attractive young lady who astounded all the sleepers and clock-watchers in Capen Auditorium when she revealed the fact that she was a "he." On the more serious side, student discussion and participation in the assembly concerning Brotherhood Week made it one of the most impressive of the year.

students

Wendell Carey is surrounded by admirers as he signs autographs after the show.

From the great saga of the sea comes the exciting and masterful drama of mutiny. When a captain finds his crew opposing him, what does he do? Paul Douglas as Captain Queeg portrayed a man caught in a mutinous upheaval of his crew.

The superb acting of Wendell Corey and Steve Brodie added realistic atmosphere to the tense production of Herman Wouk's "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial."

The drama troupe appeared as the first of the entertainment series.

After the last curtain call, the ISNU students gathered in the Cage to discuss the performers and the show.

Bradley's Braves ruined Normal's football opener for the second consecutive year. With quarterback Don Stamp throwing passes to giant end Alan Marr and with Dale Ems and Frank Goza pounding out yardage on the ground, the Peorians romped to a 34-13 win.

The game was fought on fairly even terms in the first half, with the Braves holding a 13-7 edge at halftime. Redbird Bob Rigenbach led an opening march which ended in the Bradley end zone. Rigenbach did the scoring, the first touchdown of the game.

Herb Heiss hit Jerry Davidson with a touchdown pass in the final minute of play, thus giving Normal the last score and a loss.

Redbirds meet Braves

Speeding around a would-be tackler, Rigenbach is on his way with a punt.

Riggenbach skirts right end for another first down.

and Leathernecks . . .

The records will always call it a tie game, but ISNU fans will remember the Western game as a complete victory for the Redbirds. Rigganbach ripped off a run of 100 yards, and Bill Booker methodically blocked punts, picked up fumbles, crushed various Leatherneck ribs with powerful tackles, and generally knocked the spine out of his old Alma Mater, Western.

"Rick" made his record-smashing run in the fourth quarter when he picked up a Western kickoff, hesitated a moment, and then sped straight up the field for six big points. Booker blocked a punt in the second quarter, caught the rebounding ball, and carried three or four Western fighters for 15 yards.

Statistically, ISNU lost by a great margin, but this game proved the validity of the old rule of sports—it's the score that counts, not the statistics! Final score, ISNU 13—Western 13.

Wes Bair evades the clutches of two Titans as he begins a 90-yard run.

Redbirds halt the Titans.

Normal continued its gridiron mastery over Wesleyan for the second year in a row. In a game which aroused a terrific amount of school spirit, the Birds came out a 27-7 winner.

Wes Bair, playing in his final collegiate game, connected on 10 out of 21 passes; three passes were good for touchdowns.

Bob Riggenbach furnished a thrill early in the game when he raced 90 yards to the Wesleyan two-yard line on the first play from scrimmage.

Much of the credit for the victory belonged to the ISNU forward wall, which was continually outcharging the Titan linemen.

The Vups and loyal Isnuites marched en masse to the Wesleyan stadium. At the game these avid fans persisted to cheer the team to an overwhelming victory.

In an attempt to score, Bob Riggenbach meets the opposition of a fast Michigan team.

but fall to Hurons on Dad's Day

The annual Dad's Day crowd saw the Michigan Normal Hurons retain their undefeated record in a bitter contest with the Redbirds. In spite of numerous pass interceptions by the ISNU team, the final score granted the Michigan team 25, Normal 7.

Cheerleaders Clarice Giffhorn, Shirley Romano, Dick Bruno, Joanne Schmitz, and Marge Patton as always were on hand to direct the enthusiasm of the ISNU students.

Dad ended his day with the "Pipe and Slipper Shuffle" in McCormick Gym.

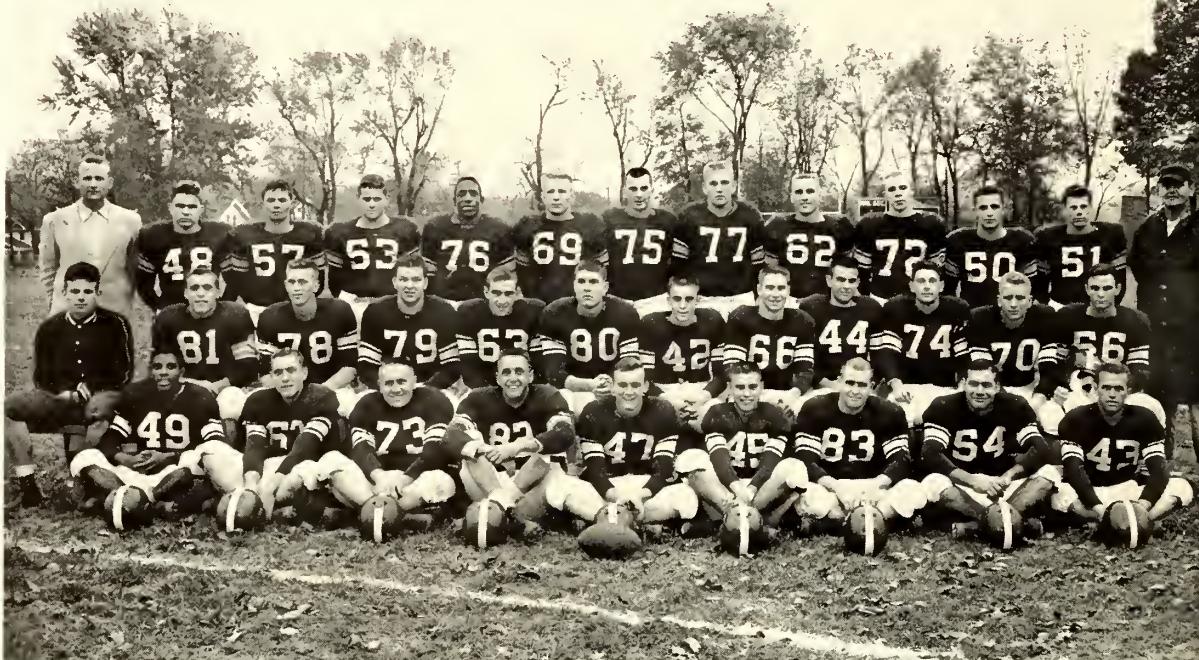

After the disappointing defeat, coffee and doughnuts lifted the spirits of John Holcomb and friends at the reception sponsored by Women's League and U. Club.

"B" team football

Meeting strong opposition this season, the "B" team football squad was kept on a very busy schedule. The usual pep and enthusiasm was not missing as they met five opposing teams. The final record stood at four losses and one win as the team closed another full season of play.

Middle row: Ken Robbins (Assistant Coach), Jae Theis, Gary Keefauver, Wayne Burkhalder, Eugene Barr, Larry Extan, Ed Gargeff, Bill Innis, Les Panizza, Ronald Miller, Merlin Carlton, Dan Smith.
Bottom row: Arthur Green, Paul Slater, Carl Catner, John Raark, Ronald Slack, Dick Hanning, Norman Orr, Roger Lane, Bill McGinn.

"B" team cheerleaders Betty Brawn, Barbara Cander, Jerry Stanich, Judy Kruse, and Danna Hadgsan incited mass response to action on the field.

Fell Hall again takes the first prize marker with its decoration of "Smoke out the Huskies."

Homecoming--

The momentous event of the year occurs in the fall. As the annual Homecoming weekend comes around, the air is filled with tense excitement. Leading off into a bright agenda of festivities, Bernardine, the Homecoming play, brings back nostalgic memories of youth. Adding color and enthusiasm to the campus are the pep session, the bonfire, and the extensive parade. The lights of the house decorations present an interesting pattern as do the dancing shadows of the bonfire on the responsive and eager faces of the football fans.

A high school band contest precedes the kick-off of the all important game with the Northern Huskies. The victory only adds to the excitement felt later at the dance and coronation in McCormick Gym.

Not forgetting the alums, the reception and the breakfasts with old friends in campus organizations add the final touches to an unforgettable weekend at ISNU.

Dr. Lorsen adds dignity to school spirit at the bonfire during the Homecoming weekend.

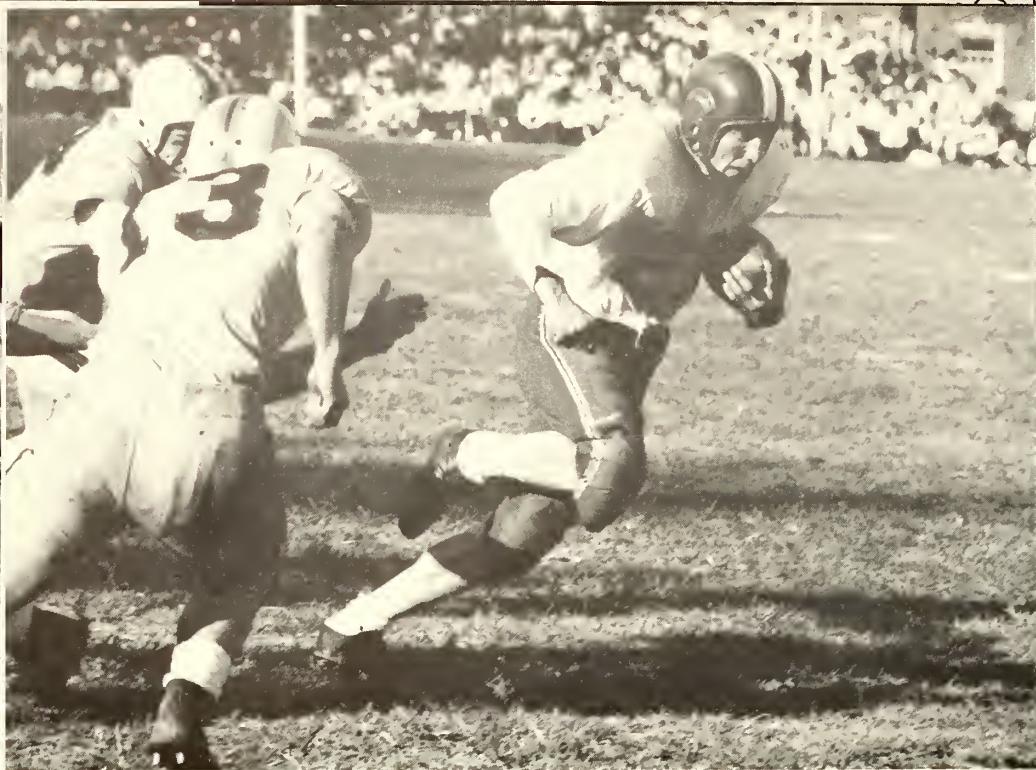

Chicken wire, cleverly disguised to follow the theme Progress through Education, dominated the parade.

"Oh, Ber-nar-dine!" June Hubert and Ken Berta star in Mary Chase's Bernardine, the '54 Homecoming play.

Bob Rigenbach begins a determined sprint down the field—another potential TD.

Victory and precision before

Some exciting moments awaited a crowd of 5,500 alums and students at the afternoon game between ISNU and the Northern Huskies during the Homecoming weekend. The Redbirds came from behind during the last quarter to mark their 21st Homecoming victory.

The running of Rigenbach and the passing of York and Bair again proved the big factors in the homecoming victory.

During the half time lapse, the two marching bands provided a show encompassing skill, precision, and musical entertainment. Directed by Arden Vance, the bands performed at each home game.

Drum major Harald Brown puts the men's marching band through its paces as they and the women's band prepare to form the double "N".

Four charming coeds, Sue Hoaver, Camella Halt, Marilyn Lesmeister, and Janice Fry, attended her majesty during the Homecoming festivities.

the coronation . . .

Lovely Ramona French reigned as Homecoming queen. Ramona, the popular junior-class candidate chosen by the student body, is an honor resident of Fell Hall. The queen and her court were in the Homecoming parade Saturday, October 23rd, and were presented at the football game that afternoon. Later that evening Roger Francour, co-captain of the football team, crowned Ramona queen during the intermission of the dance.

Cynasure of all eyes, Ramona adds grace to the parade.

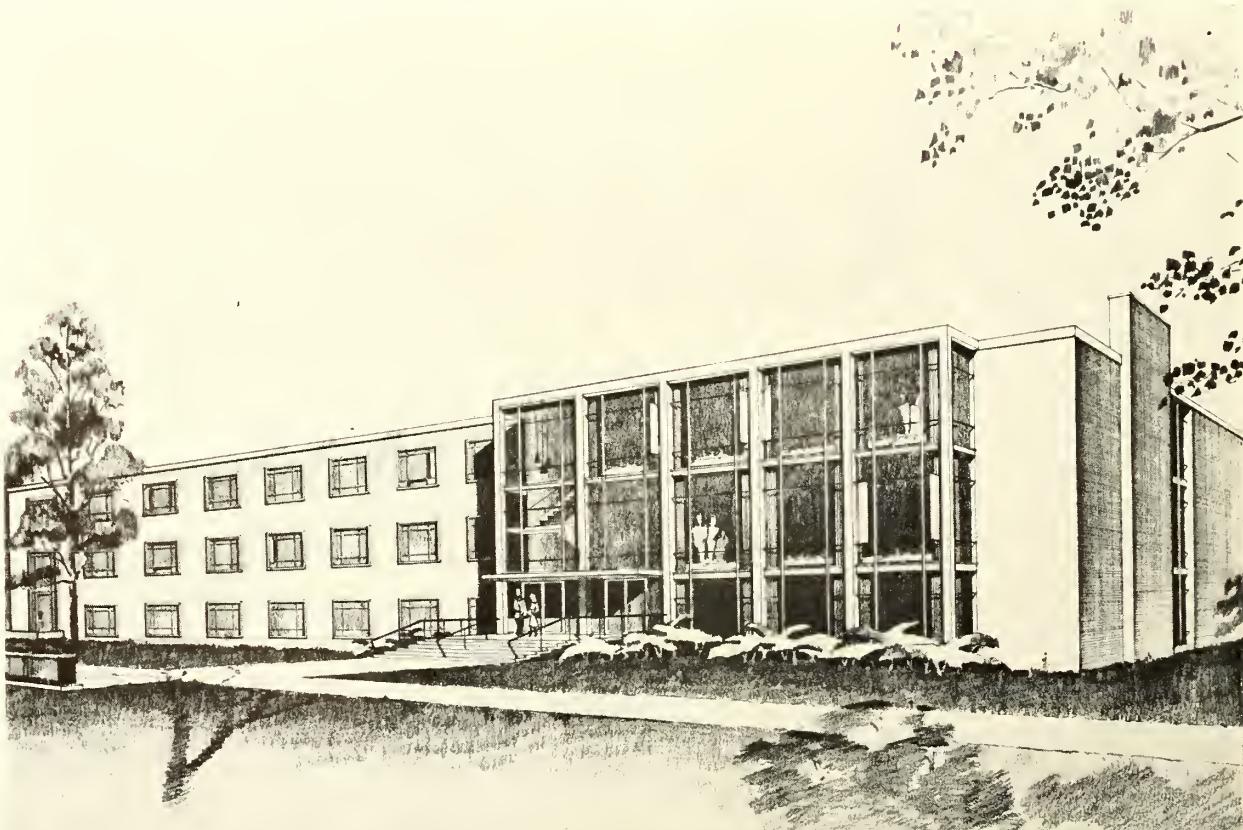

Mr. Francis Wade presents the blueprints for the Union to the Student Union Planning Committee.

Student Union underway

Dr. Harold Gibson, the head of the money raising campaign, and the members of the Student Union Planning Committee have announced that work on the Union will begin in the very near future.

The long awaited building will include a ball room, conference rooms, a cafeteria, and numerous offices and lounges. It will be located between the Administration Building and Milner Library. The proposed Union, which will cost an approximate $850,000, will be financed by a self-liquidating program.

The architectural drawing of the ISNU Student Union, a wealth of conveniences and accommodations.

That Fabulous Redhead

Agnes Moorehead finds ISNU students Ken Berta, Norman Richards, Sue Albright, and Norma Elliott more than appreciative of her talent.

Agnes Moorehead made her second appearance on the ISNU campus in Paul Gregory's production entitled "That Fabulous Redhead," a compendium of some of Miss Moorehead's most memorable dramatic performances.

Highlight of the evening was her suspenseful and tensely dramatic "Sorry, Wrong Number." She also took material from Ring Lardner, William Shakespeare, Marcel Proust, and James Thurber to complete her extensive and entertaining repertoire.

Paul Mandel and Cookie Norman, like many Isnuites, find movies as well as the personal appearances of the stars on campus highly entertaining.

Student helpers pass through the cafeteria to get their meals before working.

Especially for students

Jim Wiltz's blood pressure might drop if the nurse would leave his side.

The Cage has become a landmark on ISNU's campus. The crowds after the games or entertainment series find it is the perfect place for a snack and a coke. Completely staffed with student help, the Cage is under the supervision of Alice Bradford, Director of University Food Service.

The Food Service also operates the dormitory dining rooms, Fell Hall's Cafeteria, and the Special Education school lunch program.

Dr. Hardy skillfully directs the treatment of the Isnuites if they are in need of his services. The first meeting with the Health Service comes when the freshmen have their physical examination. Later, if necessary, they will find its comfortable beds the exact cure for a fever, a cold, or a bad sunburn.

Campus news commentator Neal Claussen reviews the events of the week on a Friday afternoon broadcast.

Tower Studio, ISNU's own radio station, is on the air. Within the next few moments you may listen to musical programs, debates, panel discussions, dramatic productions, campus news, interviews, or perhaps even a class. The Tower, located high up in Cook Hall, is operated by students. A limited number of students are given training and employment as technicians and announcers.

Another distinctive feature of college life is, of course, the classroom. Here any method of procedure—lecture, class discussion, or committees—is used to develop further the intellect and personality. A wide range of audio-visual materials is available for any phase of the curriculum.

On the air and in the classroom

Typical of many classroom scenes, Miss Torront encourages informality in discussion.

In the silence of winter . . .

Jim Meyer, Alan Castle, and Jim Wiltz rehearse with Dr. Peithman for their solos in the assembly program.

Probably one of the busiest organizations in the music department, the Men's Glee Club provided entertainment all during the school year.

Beginning with a varied program for the Homecoming season and ending with their special assembly, the 60 male voices blended into choral harmony.

Dr. Harlan Peithman, director, and the elected section council chose their musical numbers ranging from sacred hymns to the favorite, "Bali Boogie."

Jim Wiltz, Jim Meyer, Alan Castle, and John Stroud sang solo compositions during the Glee Club's personal appearances on tour and on television.

On tour with the Men's Glee Club

The Glee Club sings before the curtain rises on the Homecoming play.

An arduous rehearsal prepares the band to present a program of classic, traditional, and contemporary music.

and Concert Band

Weekly practicing in the music annex of the Federal Buildings including everything from a Sousa march to a Beethoven movement is just one requirement of a member of the Concert Band.

Under the direction of Mr. Arden Vance, the group entertained capacity crowds as they toured many towns in Central Illinois. The band presented a concert of contemporary music, headlining Ryberg's "Overture to Sir Lancelot" and Osterling's "The Nutmeggers." The tour program featured all sections of the band.

The organization is not without a student governing body. The officers are President, John Chiddix; Vice-President, Gordon Triefenbach; and Secretary, Delores Preston.

Mr. Vance indicates the solo parts to Doris Griffin, Ran Veselack, Pat Grieser, and John Chiddix.

Winter is characterized in a snow laden evergreen.

On the holiday

In spite of the usual hustle and bustle associated with Christmas, the ISNU students forgot the gift wrapping and put aside Christmas card lists to prepare for the campus holiday activities.

About 275 of these very busy people from the music organizations spent several hours rehearsing for two performances of Handel's Messiah, directed by Dr. Emma Knudson.

Unique and traditional decor transformed ordinary objects into things of crystal, evergreen, and holiday warmth. The University Club Christmas Service was held in Capen. The auditorium appropriately became a forest of icicle-covered trees, a background for the Madonna and Child plaque.

Carols, cheery wishes, and color were predominant everywhere. It was Christmas at ISNU.

Fantasy in Frost

Beneath the fir-covered hallway in Fell Hall, Larry Bayless and Beverly Blue prepare to go on a Sleigh Ride with Sheila Petersen and Dan Lindquist.

Fantasy in Frost aptly describes the Barton Hall Christmas formal. Cae Wallace and Ann Nelsen, looking like the delicate snowflakes above them, are escorted by Dan Jackson and Bruce Anderberg.

During a dress rehearsal, Mobel C. Allen offers suggestions to Morilynn Jacobs and Diana Cozart.

A somber, black mood permeated the apprehensive audience who applauded the Jester presentation of "The House of Bernarda Alba."

Jealousy, pride, and wrath complicate the lives of the ill-fated family whose narrative could end only in tragedy.

In a moment of rage, Marge Doman as Bernardo Alba commands her daughters to forget their feminine longings and weaknesses.

Jesters take a bow . . .

Fred Marberry shoots the ball through the hoop for another two points.

Normal registered its second win of the season by running past Indiana Central 100 to 71. This win was partially due to the new combination Coach Pim Goff started featuring Herman Shaw and Fred Marberry at forwards, Al Meyer and Bob Rigganbach at guards, and Jim Jones as center.

Fred Marberry led in points scored for the Redbird five, finishing with 17.

Finding an opening to his advantage, Fred Marberry carefully plants a shot against Indiana Central.

ISNU launched its 1954-55 basketball season with a 103-74 triumph over Quincy. The Redbird quintet, with a 40 per cent average the first half, scored enough points to ice the game before the first half was over.

Leading the Birdie five, Fred Marberry scored 32 points and led in rebounds with 19. Right behind in total points was Al Meyer with 26 points.

This win started the team to a victorious season of play.

Season openers

Eastern's Panthers defeated the home squad in a nat-taa-exciting fray. Final score, 78-66.

Marberry voted most valuable player

Fred Marberry, ISNU'S number one scorer and rebounder, was voted the most valuable player by his teammates. Marberry, a sophomore from Peoria, also led the IIAC conference in scoring with a 20 point plus average.

With the IIAC champ scoring 29 points, the Redbirds led the visiting Huskies until the final few minutes of play in which Norm Goldman sank the winning basket for the Northern team. The game broke two scoring records and kept the crowd on the edge of their seats. Normal lost 111-109.

Al Meyer skillfully dribbles the ball past the menacing Huskie.

Jim Jones leaps into the air in an attempt to foil a Titan's shot.

Birds downed by Wesleyan

The return bout with Wesleyan was not as satisfying to Redbird fans as was the victory in the initial encounter. The Titans took home a hard-fought 83-81 win, earned at McCormick Gym.

Normal had run up a ten point advantage at one time, but for the most part the game was much closer. The Birds did not relinquish their lead until the final ten minutes. Wesleyan then engaged in a battle of see-saw and came out two points ahead.

Fred Marberry led the locals in scoring with 29 points. Wesleyan's Dick Metzger carried the load for the Titans, tallying 24 points, all on field goals.

Cheerleader C. G. Giffhorn appears speechless and worried during a tense moment on the floor. Other spectators experience mixed emotions.

A Southerner attempts to block a shot by Art Buesking.

edge the Salukis

Southern Illinois University became the first conference victim of the Redbirds. The visiting Salukis were beaten 86-70, thus repaying them for a loss incurred earlier in the season.

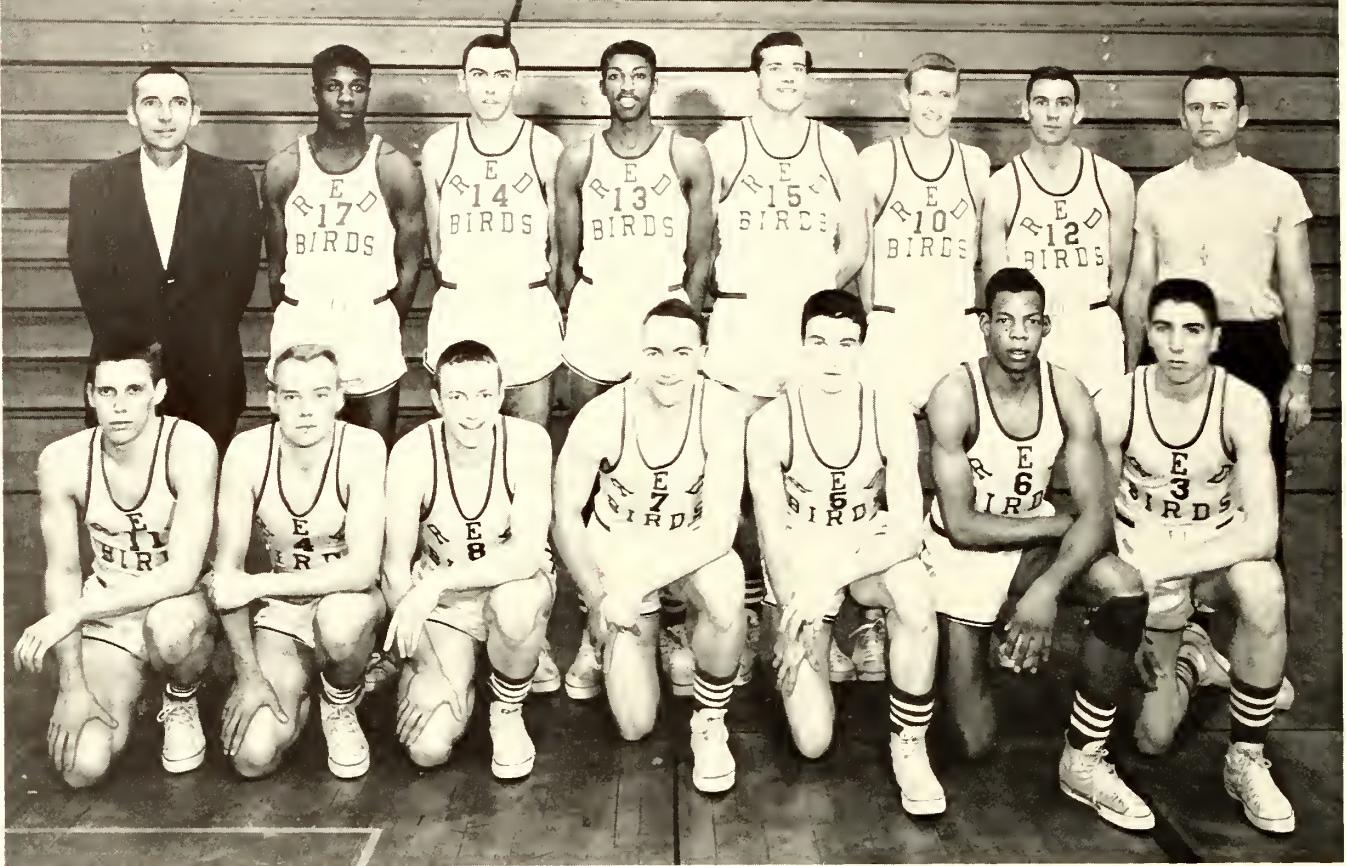

For one night the Goffmen looked like sure winners. They rebounded, they hustled, they played defense, and they played offense. In short, they did everything that a team should do to win.

Southern, on the other hand, had a cold night at the basket, and their rebounding strength was hurt when a couple of the big boys endangered themselves with fouls.

Fred Marberry hit the hoop for 24 points to lead the team. Al Meyer and freshman Art Buesking collected 18 and 17 points respectively.

It looks bad for Southern Illinois.

Intramurals score a hit

Over the net! Down the field! A strike! Such comments may be heard coming from McCormick Gym during the school year. They are the cheers of members of the various intramural teams.

The women may participate in tennis, hockey, basketball, volleyball, or softball. The men are active in similar sports. Each activity extends over a period of nine weeks during which individual teams compete with each other.

Several afternoons and evenings each week are devoted to league play. Although no rewards are offered, the athletic enthusiasts avidly participate in the intramural program.

Don Jockson rolls up his sleeves in preparation for his bat at the line while other bowlers casually await their turns.

The practice of spiking a volleyball may well win a game if the team operates like this one. Volleyball is one of the favorite sports in the intramural program.

Hockey, a sport of skill designed for the wide-open spaces, is often seen in action on the field. The girls' hockey team also meets teams from other colleges.

A shot, well placed, may send the ball through the basket or past the arms of a rebounder. Basketball provides the wholesome sportsmanship of a good intramural program.

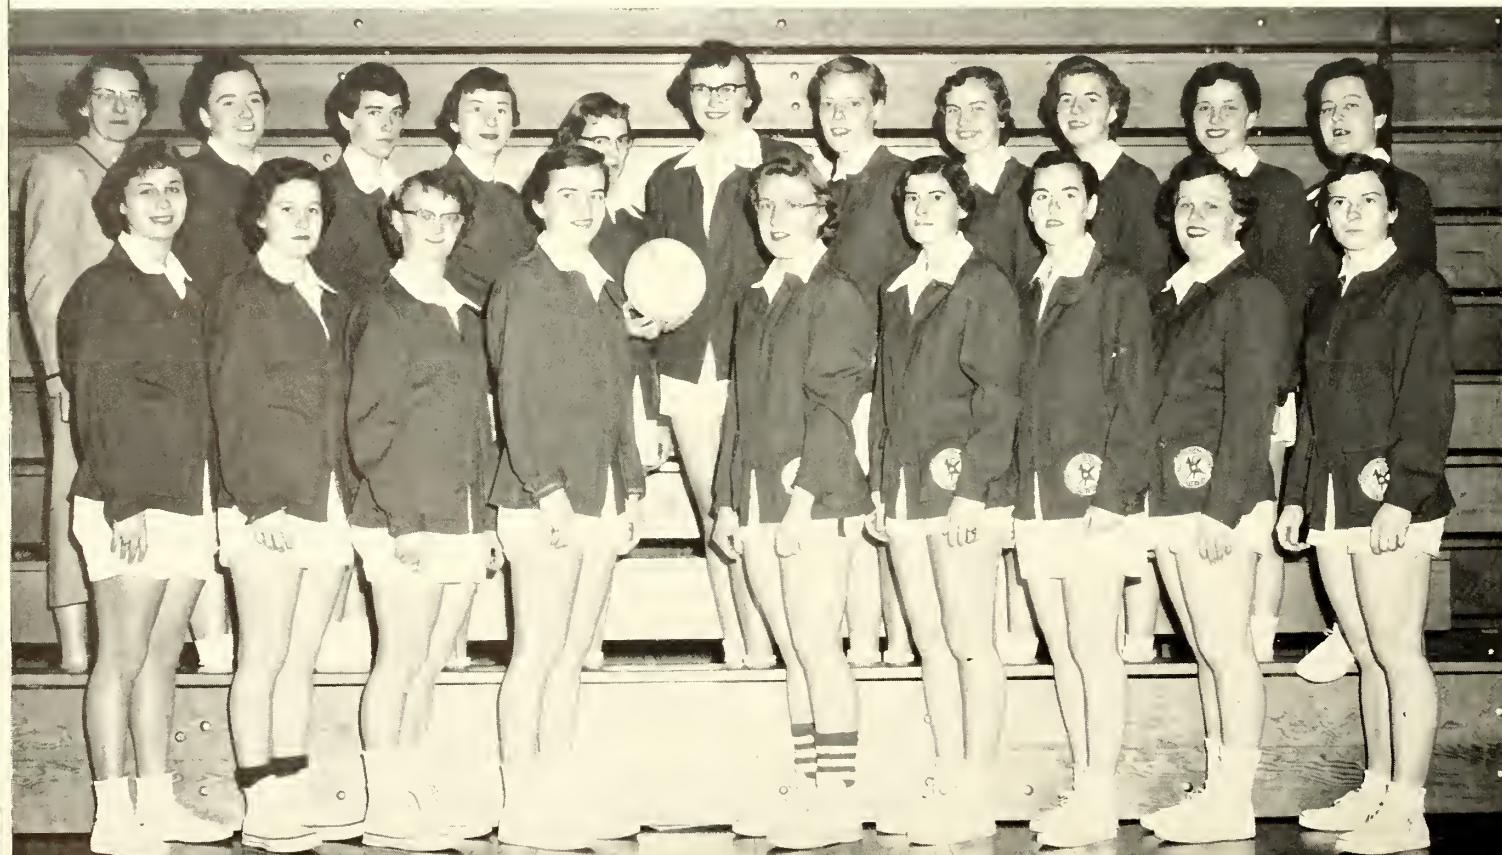

Barbara Wilson, Marjorie McKee, Jaann Schmitz, Betsy Jachum, Caral Hubbard, Kathy Passalacqua, Phyllis McFall, and Judy Jahnsen comprise the women's extramural basketball team.

Extramurals mean skill and competition

The extramural volleyball squad includes—

Battam Row: Caral Barnett, Marjorie McKee, Mary Lau Thompson, Caral Hubbard, Marilyn Matsan, Judy Jahnsen, Gail Walff, Mary Gundersen, Florence Grebner.

The Lowell Mason club's production of Victor Herbert's musical comedy, "The Fortune Teller," proved that talent is not specifically limited to Broadway or Hollywood. The beautiful dances and the superb singing were inspirational to the audience.

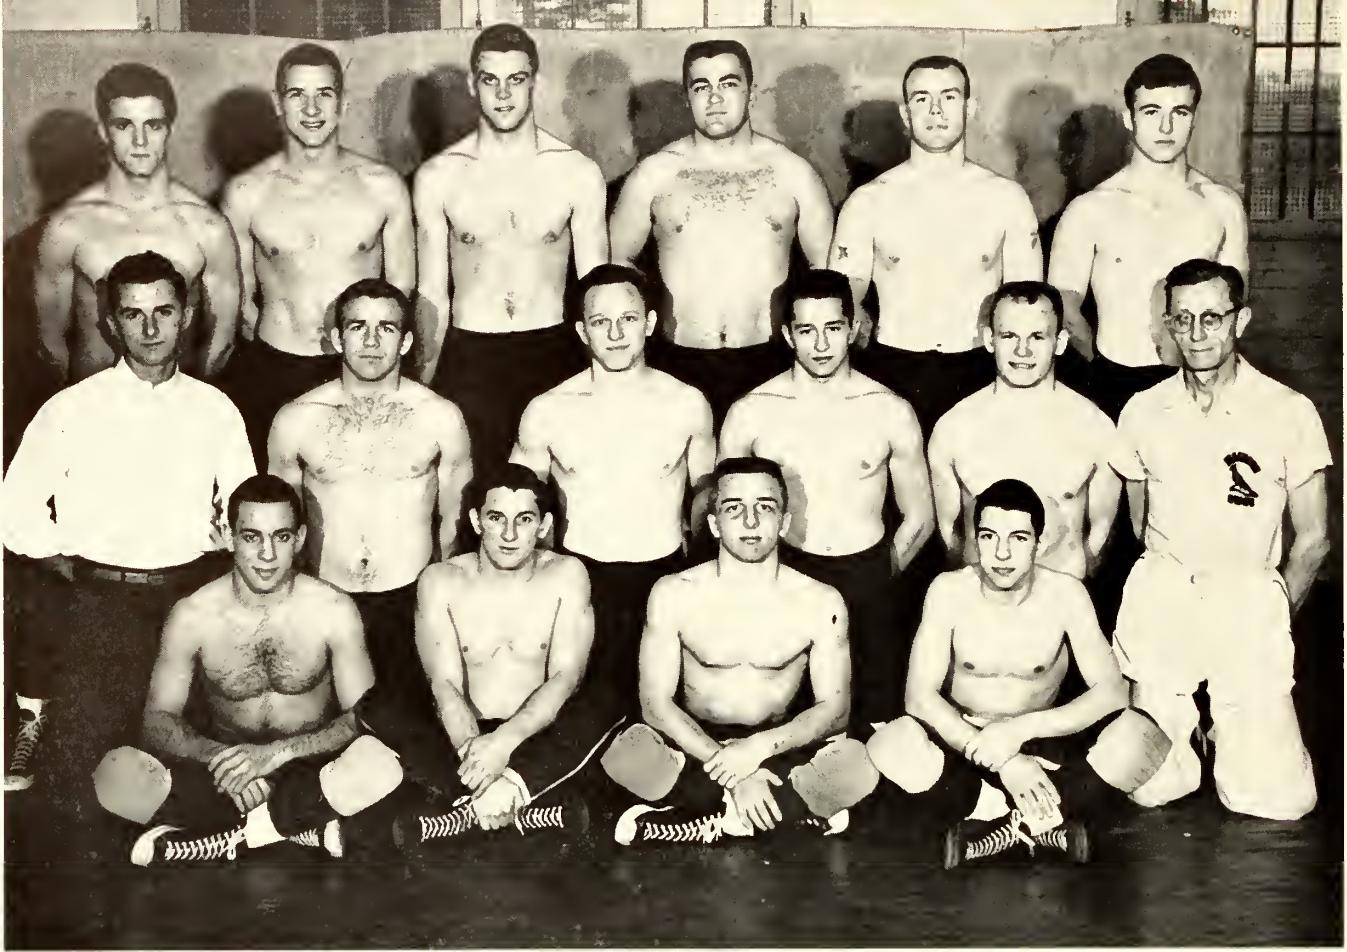

Don Arnold was Fresco, the Ballet Master, who aided Count Berezowski, Dave Holcomb, in his pursuit of a lottery ticket. Irma (Helen Spiegel), Captain Ladislaus (Jim Wiltz), Sandor (John Stroud), and Musette (Arlene Berry) soon became involved. The confusion at the wedding finally ceased as each person found his love.

The operetta took place on Friday and Saturday, February 25 and 26. Directors of the show were Doris Griffin, Ken Ritter, and Jim Kidoguchi.

Duone Houser, Musette's father, scolds her after she deserted the gypsies to marry the Count.

Dave Holcomb, the Count, reveals to the audience that the lottery has been canceled.

Champs in wrestling

Jay Meitzler grapples with an Eastern wrestler.

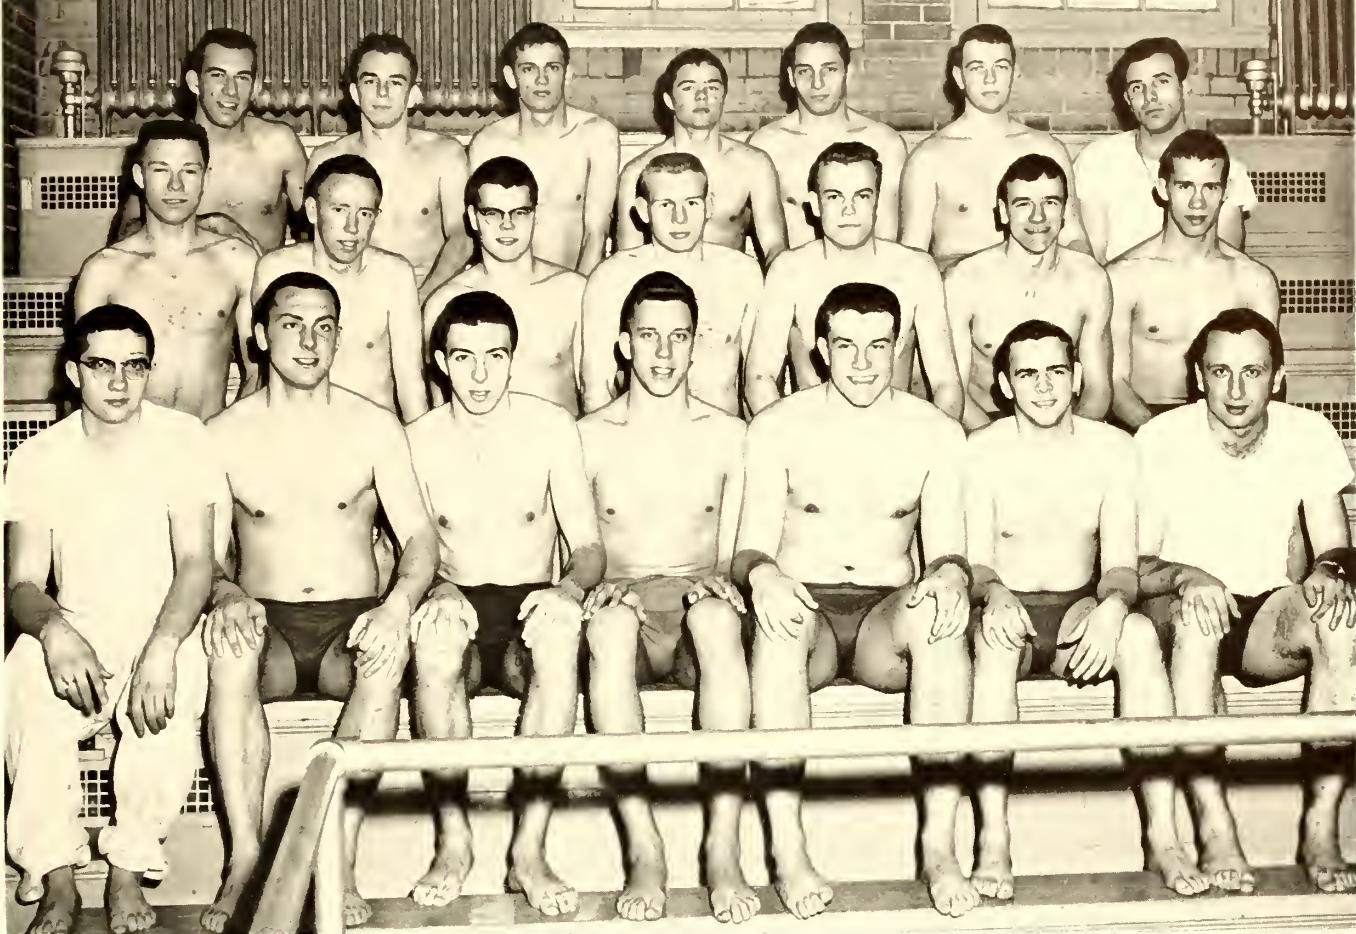

In November, Coach Gene Hill faced the task of rounding into shape a group of wrestlers which was to face the most challenging mat schedule in the history of the school. Among the grapplers were inexperienced enthusiasts, even one who had never seen a college-style match before.

Experimenting as the season rolled along, the team won four, lost four, and tied one out of nine dual meets. However, by tournament time the team was ready.

The Redbirds captured the Wheaton invitational and won the IIAC championship for the sixth time out of the seven times it has been held.

Dick Bruno completed his eligibility in grand fashion, going undefeated in dual meets, and capturing the Illinois State College Tournament championship in the 130-pound class. Bruno also racked up championships in the Wheaton Invitational and the IIAC. The biggest honor came when the Blue Island senior walked off with the first place crown at the Case Institute Tournament, a national meet.

Freshmen Walter Hess and Jay Meitzler also turned in excellent season records, Hess winning a second in the Case meet.

and swimming

ISNU's swimming team had a highly successful season, capturing seven victories out of ten meets. Triumphs over Bradley University, St. Louis University, and Rolla School of Mines highlighted the tank season.

Don Olsen led the team in total points for the year with 98. Following closely behind was Ray Sorge with 94. Consequently, the men were elected to serve as co-captains for next year.

For a team without a home pool, the swimmers did very well, scoring a total of 475 points in ten meets. The opponents' total was 363. The water-Birds did not lose to a team representing a conference school. There was no IIAC championship awarded for the sport.

They're splashing to a victory in the Wesleyan pool.

Children star in Oriental production

Lee Baba constantly finds clues to help her and her companions catch the thief who stole the sacred idol.

The abilities and talents in the detective work of children were ably dramatized in "Lee Bobo," the Children's Theatre production. Lee Bobo, a Chinese-American, convinces her entire neighborhood they want to become a "junior Scotland Yard" in pursuit of a desperate thief. The activities included in the plot were the delicate art of shadow boxing and the dignified Chinese rituals.

Directed by Mable Clare Allen with the student mentors Sally Brammer, Bob Wilson, and Jo Ann Filstrup, the play was successful both for the children participating and for the audience. The scenery and costuming were especially commendable because they added the atmosphere to make the production truly Chinese.

Ed Carpenter and Roger Hufford conspire against the affirmative case as presented by Peg Davenport and Neal Claussen.

Discussion, debate and oratory...

Capturing just about every honor they sought, the local Forensics squad, led by Dr. Ralph A. Micken, has definitely set itself up as an organization that comes to conquer. Travelling to various universities, the teams of the squad topped all divisions in the competition.

This year, Ed Carpenter won the state championship in oratory, and Pat Hufford won the state championship in extempore speaking. This marks the fourth year in the last five in which no Normal entrant has placed lower than second in the state.

complete with music

The University Choir increased its size this year, proving that it was one of the favorite organizations on campus. The Tuesday and Thursday rehearsals were often extended preceding the annual presentation of "The Messiah."

Dr. Emma R. Knudson, director, took the choir members to Chicago again for a concert with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in Orchestra Hall. To the deep tones of Brahms the choir added the brilliancy of beauty in vocalization.

A concert for assembly reminded the student body of the fine work done by Dr. Irwin Spector, director of the University Symphony Orchestra. In addition to two rehearsals every week and occasional informal parties, the orchestra followed a strenuous performance schedule this year. The spring concert was applauded by many students and faculty.

Big Fours headline jazz

Four times a year Women's League and University Club invite leading bands to play for the dances that have become almost traditional.

Season-ticket holders and their guests this year danced to the rhythms of Ralph Marterie, listened to the piano antics of Count Basie, applauded the jazz of Louis Armstrong, and swayed with Dick Jurgens.

All arrangements and decorations were handled by the Big-Four Committee headed by Carol Marshall and Leroy Noel.

On stage...

Salem witchcraft trials with all their narrow-minded judgments were vividly re-enacted in "The Crucible" by Arthur Miller. The grim austerity of the setting was in contrast to the lightning-like lines of the actors. The tragic victims were portrayed by Matt Kochevar and Diana Thornton, who demonstrated the problems of evil wrought by false accusations and of guilt by association. "The Crucible" chalked up another hit for the University Theatre and Theta Alpha Phi.

Diana Thornton as Elizabeth offers no sympathy for the behavior of Matt Kochevar, who portrays John Proctor, her husband.

A severe trial and test of a man's judgment of himself and the incriminating lies of accusation reflect the doom of "The Crucible."

Outstanding Seniors

Student leaders gather in the Fell Hall recreation room to discuss their newly-won distinction.

Thirty-two men and women were honored by the Student Council as Outstanding Seniors. These students were selected on the basis of scholarship and participation in campus activities. Among those chosen were Don Andersen, Barbara Boehm, Jim Bowers, Dick Bruno, Ed Carpenter, John Chiddix, Chris Christian, Neal Claussen, Del Cryer, Darrell Dickey, Marge Doman, Roger Francour, Carol Blake Gerrond, and Thelma Hari.

Mattiwilda Dobbs

Even though Miss Dobbs has appeared in many opero roles, her favorite, "Ariadne," won her enviable praise at the Glyndebourne Festival in Germany.

As a gifted coloratura soprano of exceptional range and virtuosity, Miss Mattiwilda Dobbs procured the acclaim of the audience at her concert in Capen Auditorium in January.

Making her first coast-to-coast tour of the United States, the Negro artist returned to her native America after having presented concerts in London, Paris, Vienna, and other parts of Europe.

Like hundreds of other concert goers, Virginia Christian and Charles Roy highly approve the Dobbs interpretations.

A winning baseball team

Hopes were high in the spring as the nucleus of ISNU's winningest baseball team returned for another season. For the first time in the school's history, the IIAC championship rested at Normal, as a result of the efforts of the 1954 diamonders.

The nineteen victories against five defeats set a new school record. The previous high for a Normal nine was sixteen. Included in the wins were ten straight victories at home. All five defeats came on the road. The final conference record was 10-2.

On the cinder track

Track coach Joe Cogdal depended largely upon new material this year. Only eight lettermen returned from a weak 1954 cinder squad.

Last year's team won only two of five dual meets although one of these defeats was a close 66-65 loss to Northern. On the debit side of the ledger the Redbirds beat Western 89-42 and shellacked Wesleyan 124-7.

In two big meets, the thinclads finished sixth in the IIAC and fourth in the State College competition. Jack Finnell and Benny Clark captained the team. Clark was the only Normalite to win a first (shot put) in the conference.

Lettermen returning were captain Dale Finnell, Fred Marberry, Herman Shaw, John Swalec, Bill Benner, Wally Delhotal, Don Nichols, and Merle Andersen.

Dale Finnell races against time and a Bradley trockmon in a half-mile contest.

Top Row: Assistant Coach Carl Heldt, Ross Rosenthal, Bob Becker, Jac't Price, Ran Slack, Don Andersen, Don Arbogast, Jerry Symons, Dan Hurd, Ran Riek, Manager Lou Maare, Coach Joe Cogdal.

The Kappa Lambda band plays the overture before the curtain rises on "So Be It."

Ancient Bagdad was never like this!

From the beginning until the final explosive scene of the genie, "So Be It" was another hit for the Blackfriars. The opening number by the Kappa Lambda band, directed by Al Pizzamiglio, transported the audience from America to mysterious Bagdad. The band continued to set the mood for the oriental scenes with original music compositions and discordant arrangements of contemporary numbers.

While three GI's are touring modern Bagdad, one buys the proverbial magic lamp, equipped with Eveready batteries. Given three wishes by the genie of the lamp, the young men are whisked to the ancient valley states of Mesopotamia.

Yasmine and the Caliph "make up" long enough to perform a song and dance routine.

Blackfriar burlesque

The dancing lovelies of old Bagdad capriciously moved about the stage entertaining not only the Caliph Ali Benhadd, Arnold Anagnostopoulos, but the receptive audience as well. The plot thickened as Rudyard Dayton Worthington, played by Dick Hubert, became involved with the Caliph's favorite wife Yasmine, Tom Prather.

The setting, costuming, and acting were indicative of the talent and ingenuity of the group.

Spring introduces golf

Last year's golf team collected 11 victories and suffered 10 defeats but looked with anticipation to the 1955 season. Four lettermen were returning from a team which finished third in the 1954 IIAC meet.

The greatest challenge for last year's team was meeting the "year-around" golfers on the Florida trip. Normal was able to win only one out of five on the spring tour, so that they had a 10-6 regular season record.

George Meidel was the top man on the squad, finishing in a tie for fifth place in the conference. Other returning stalwarts were Jerry Meidel, John Goodwin, and Dick Simester.

Western State Teachers College, league champion, handed Normal a  $14\frac{1}{2}$ - $3\frac{1}{2}$  defeat. In dual meets with teams in the IIAC, the Birds won five out of six.

Golfer John Goodwin believes in daily practice on the green during golfing season.

Coach Harold Honcock, Dick Heise, Jim Broecker, Bill Simester, George Meidel, Jerry Meidel, and Captain John Goodwin compose the 1954 golf team.

and tennis

Three lettermen returned from last year's IIAC championship tennis team. Coach Gene Hill's courtmen entered the 1955 campaign with a record of six straight conference crowns behind them.

With Frank Purdy leading the way, last year's team won 13 of 18 dual meets. Purdy went on to the NCAA tournament, but was beaten in the third round.

John Holcomb, number two man in 1954, moved into the top position this season. His job was to keep the IIAC crown at ISNU, where it has been ever since the present conference was inaugurated.

Out of the five losses suffered by the 1954 team, four of them came at the hands of service teams met on the spring trip. Washington University at St. Louis was the only school to beat the netmen during the regular season.

Some of the tougher opposition came in meets with Beloit, Millikin, and Eastern. The Redbirds shut out Northern, Southern, and Carthage in dual meets, while St. Louis University was able to score only one point against ISNU's "racket squad."

In an early practice session, John Holcomb executes a serve to his opponent.

In the spring much practice prepared the singers for their annual spring tour of Illinois high schools.

Miss Wilma Schell and Mr. Lowell Kuntz directed the voices of the Women's Chorus. Basic policies were decided by a representative board, whose members were selected from each section of the Chorus.

beckons new students

In the spring a high-school senior's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of college as students from all over Illinois can be seen heading toward Normal and the campus of ISNU. Coming to take part in ISNU's College Day, the prospective student can see the University in action.

Guided campus tours, a free noon luncheon, and a Jesters' play in the afternoon are among the many activities which never let a dull moment creep in. As the students head for home they dream of fall when they can come back—not as visitors—but as members of the freshman class of ISNU.

Prospective freshmen congregate on the steps of the Administration Building to discuss the results of their campus tours.

Dr. Clyde McCormick and Roger Hufford acquire news of former Isnuites from Mrs. Stiegelmeier, president of the Alumni Association, at the dinner in Fell Hall.

Alums congregate on Founders' Day

About 13,000 alumni are kept informed of campus events via the extensive services of the Alumni Relations office headed by Acting Director Francis Wade.

In addition to gleaning information from monthly publications, the former students exchange tidbits of latest happenings at regular get togethers of the more than 30 alumni clubs in all parts of the country.

In February, alumni, faculty, and students celebrated the ninety-eighth birthday of ISNU at a Founders' Day dinner in Fell Hall. Dr. Abel Hanson of Teachers College, Columbia University spoke to the guests about the role of the alumni of teachers colleges.

It's time out on an alumni meeting in Springfield as graduates and students renew college friendships.

Sweetheart Ball

Gus Lahman escorts June Jachums, University Club Sweetheart, to receive her loving cup. June and her court, Lyn Grimm, Liz Tayama, Jane Thampsan, and Ja Schmitz reigned at the February Sweetheart Ball.

The couples attending the Ball danced to the orchestral arrangements of Al Pizzamiglia.

Springtime is Sophomore Cotillion time. The sophomore class chose Mary Broomfield and Jim Wiltz to reign over this formal affair. Complementing the royal couple were their court, Helen Hubbard, Larry Efaw, Doris Reed, and Ted Merry. Class president Leroy Noel crowned the king and queen during intermission.

The theme "Prelude to Summer" was appropriately conveyed by the use of pastels in a false ceiling. Soft lights, sweet music, and bouffant gowns added charm to the evening affair. Johnny Bruce and his orchestra provided the music for the gala event which was capably planned by co-chairmen Ramona French and Gus Lohmann.

Couples take advantage of the simulated sidewalk cafe at the Catillian.

The Prelude to Summer

Dancing in the dark with a favorite date, a magic malif, and soft music create a night to remember.

The starlight creates a romantic setting as the couples cruise into the horizon.

We were dancing along on a "Moonlight Cruise" reminiscing all those who attended the Junior-Senior Prom. The lighthouses blinked blue and red around them and a starry sky above. Beautiful coeds, swishing their pastel-colored dresses, with their handsome escorts danced to the music of Dick Halleman and his orchestra. The life preservers on the doors, the huge anchor, and the Statue of Liberty helped transform McCormick Gymnasium into a ship for the grand launching. As the couples swayed on the deck of the ship, the imaginary city's shore line swept past them.

An added feature for the dancers was the opportunity to see themselves at the prom on television a few days later.

Starry-eyed Lydia Almquist and Dick Wuthrich are lost in the enchantment.

Lois Geiken is congratulated by Dr. Larsen as he presents her with her diploma.

Commencement...

With four years of specialized training behind him, the ISNU senior closes the chapter of his life headlined College Days and turns to one labeled The Teacher. For many grads there will be a sequel to this chapter, for a Master's or a Doctor's degree may beckon him to higher learning.

On June 12 at 3 p.m., Acting President Arthur Larsen presents degrees to the three hundred and four seniors and graduate students in the outdoor amphitheatre. As each senior's name is called he is presented his diploma—a representation of all his hopes and ambitions for the future. He leaves the ceremony with the recessional strains ringing in his ears and walks out on the threshold of the future.

At future homecomings and reunions with fellow alumni the senior will chuckle at his gullibility as a freshman and reminisce about student teaching, the formals, the coffee and coke dates at the Cage, the eight o'clock classes, the games, the lesson plans, and the thousand-and-one experiences that made up his college life.

Whatever diverse routes the senior takes, he will always remember his four years at ISNU and the world of opportunity that they offered.

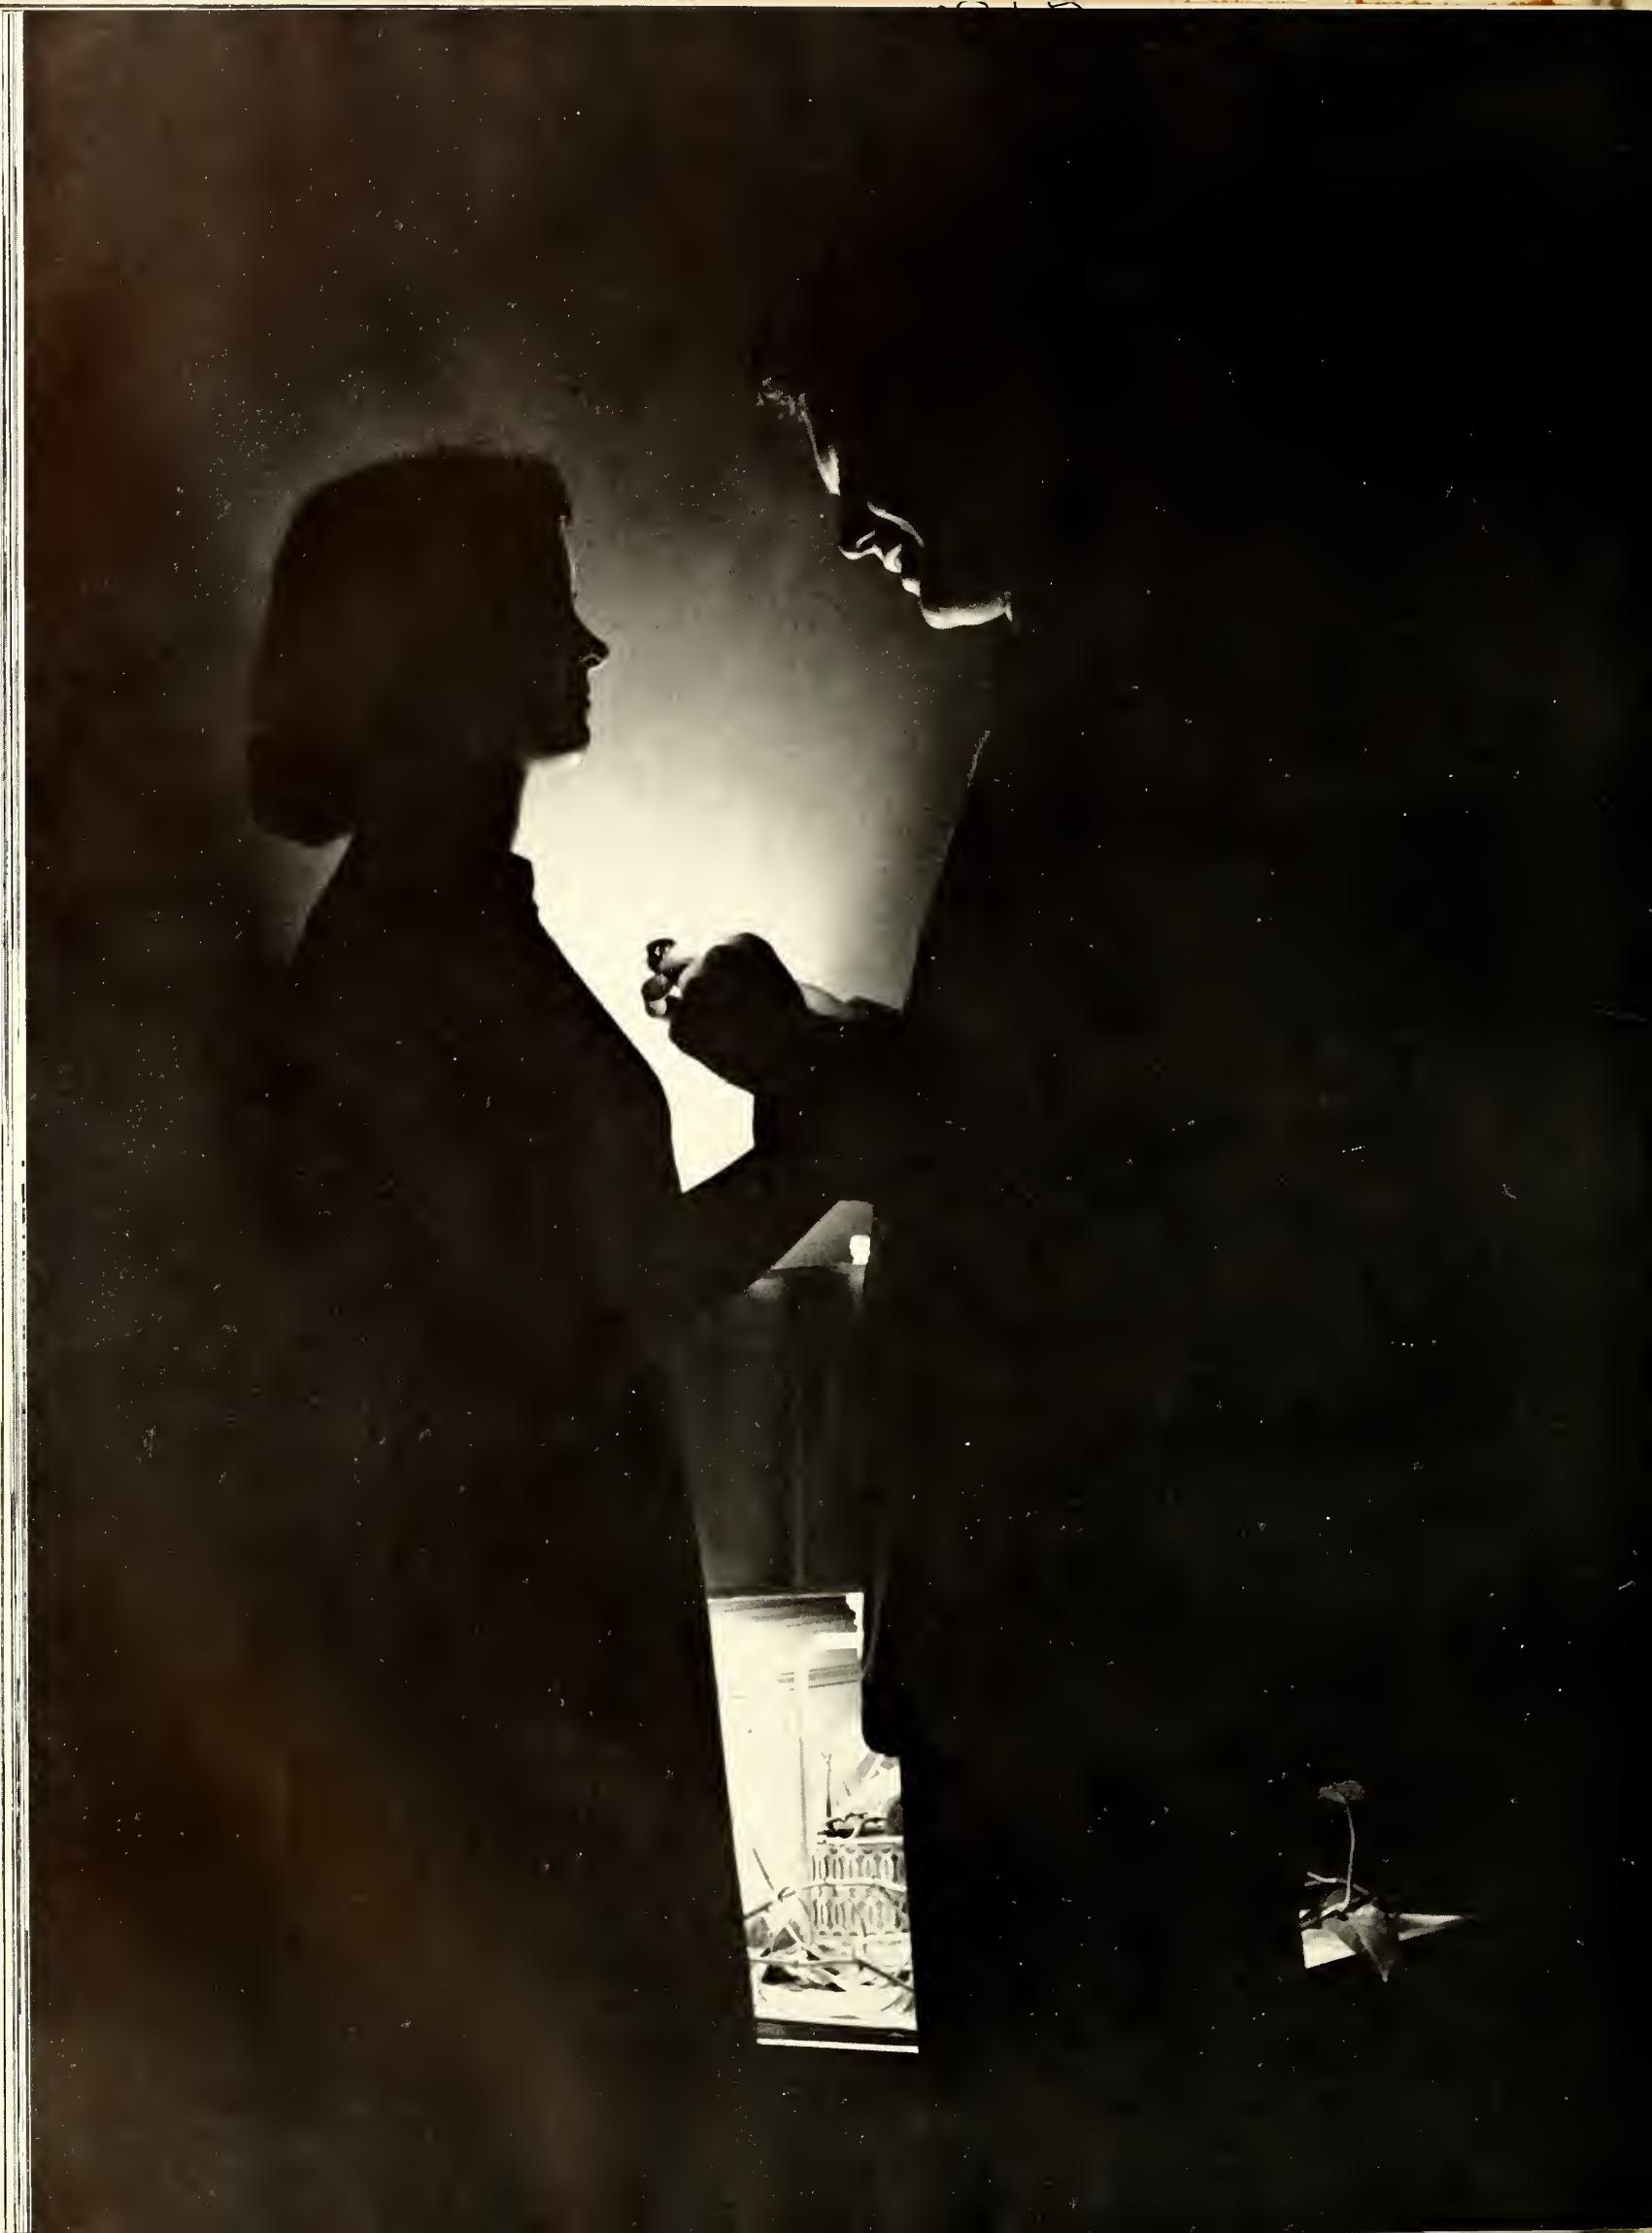

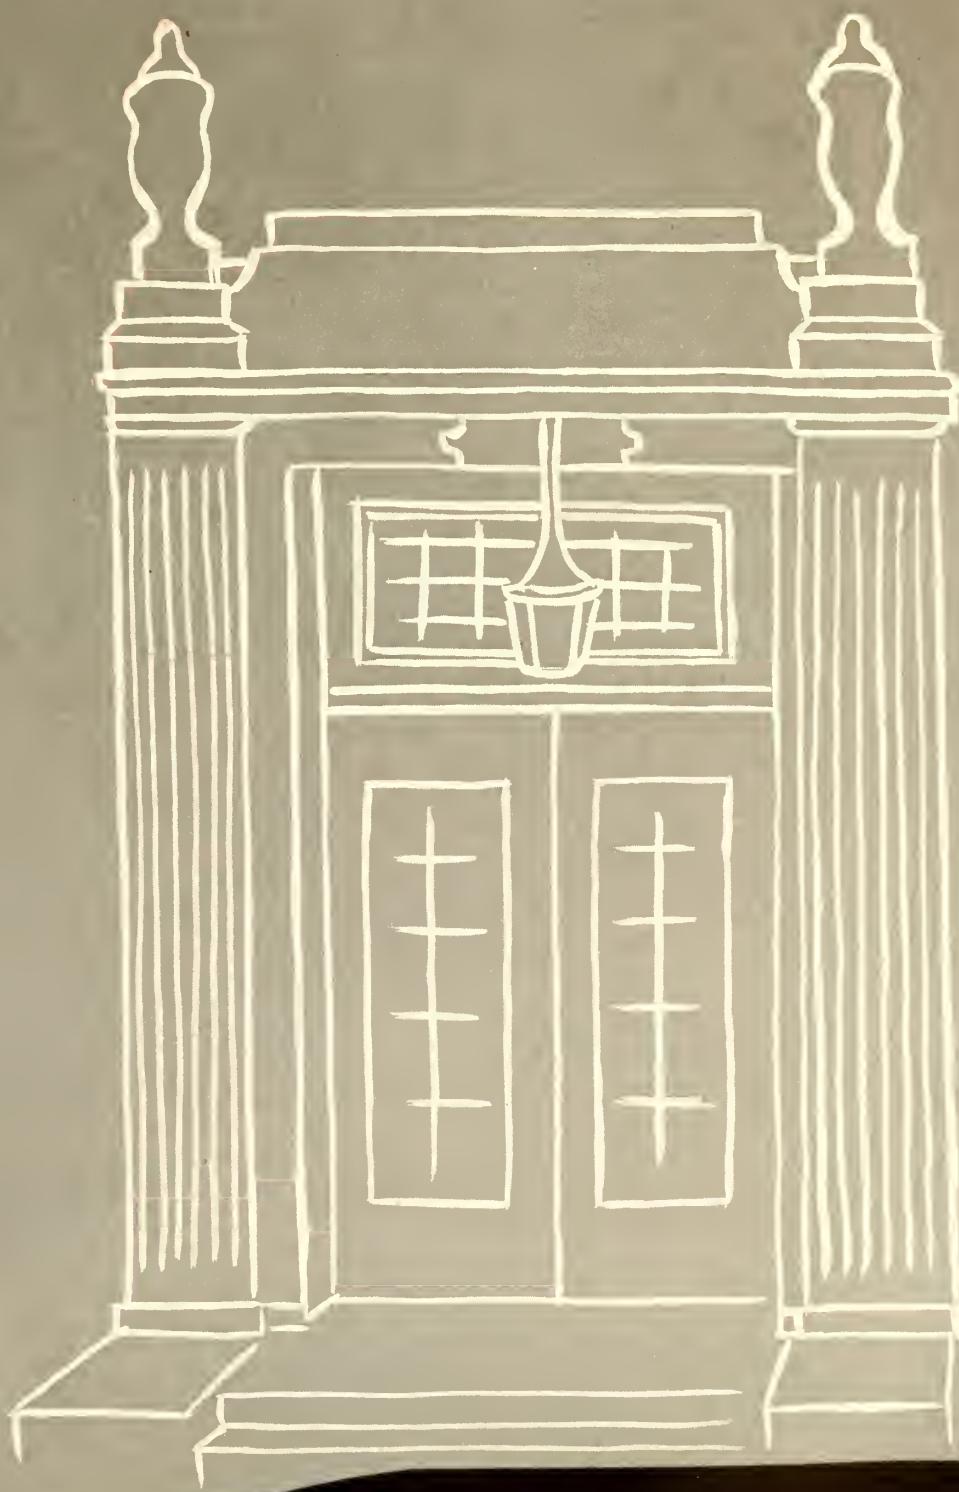

With the future in sight graduates march to the amphitheatre.

Index

Editor Gloria Ketchmark spent many a night worrying about final deadlines and her staff worked diligently beside her to publish the '55 Index. The regular Tuesday and Thursday meetings of the staff were always a time of last-minute instruction, editing, double checking, and fun.

Mercedes Tompkins, assistant editor, was right-hand man. Business Manager Leroy Noel balanced the budget, and Gail Britt, literary editor, checked copy submitted by her assistants.

As art editor Donna Carby was involved with layout, picture panels, and drawings. Photographer Stan Peters was the camera man for the yearbook. Advising this publications group was Miss Vermell Wise.

Work, work, and more work—the efficient Vidette staff never tires as the weekly on-campus newspaper never fails to reach the students every Wednesday morning. Under the direction of Mr. R. W. Tudor, the members of the staff are kept busy getting the stories and articles ready before the deadline, writing and editing copy, proofreading the copy, and finally getting all of the completed articles to the print shop.

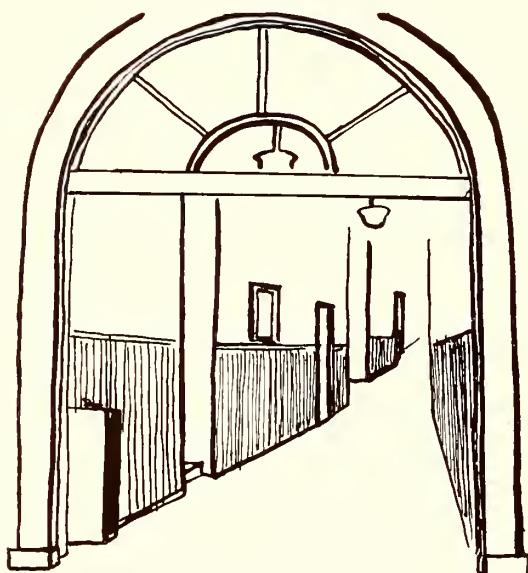

Jack Martin, Editor-in-chief for the first semester, was assisted by Lou Corso, Joan Fuller, and Al Inkster. Lou acted as Editor-in-chief for the second semester with Joan and Al assisting. Sports editors were Dan Andersen and Jim Noah.

Tom Brigham acted as Business and Advertising Manager and Ken Janda, Photographer. Editorial Assistants for the first semester were June Clark, Del Cryer, and Virginia Stahr, with Jack Martin and Virginia Stahr serving second semester. Melvina Hufstedler was Circulation Manager both semesters.

Vidette

Joan Fuller, Lou Corso, and Al Inkster seem well pleased with the congratulatory note that is read to them by Jack Martin at a staff meeting.

People form groups to live together, to pursue mutual interests, and to worship God. These groups are called organizations. Even the busiest ISNU student finds time to engage in the activities of one or more organizations.

Honoraries fill an important place in University life just as the religious organizations offer spiritual and social benefits. Almost every department sponsors a club which provides wholesome entertainment with special emphasis in its particular area. These many special-interest clubs present challenges to a student's initiative and abilities, as hidden talents and interests are soon discovered and put to work.

Alpha Delta

Trips to various television networks, newspaper offices, and publishing houses were some of the activities of the members of Alpha Delta, the journalistic fraternity.

"Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." This, the motto of Pi Gamma Mu, is the basis for the organization's aims to improve scholarship in the social sciences, to inspire service to humanity, and to engender sympathy toward others with different problems.

The officers this year were George Zigman, Carlynne South, Melissa Ritter, and James Zimmerman. Mrs. Dorothy Brunk was sponsor.

The members of Pi Kappa Delta were kept busy this year with forensic meets, the ISNU invitational debate-discussion tournament, and radio and panel discussions. Many of them won honors.

Dr. Ralph Micken advised the officers, Neal Claussen, Jerry Parker, and Pat Hufford. The officers and members met to discuss and debate on Tuesdays in the Library.

Marge Damon reads a letter in reply to the request for tickets at a Theta meeting in the Jim Bockes' apartment.

Theta Alpha Phi

On the third Thursday of each month the members of Theta Alpha Phi held a dinner meeting at homes of students or faculty members. These dramatists sponsored the spring play, "The Lady's Not for Burning," by Christopher Frye.

Miss Mabel Clare Allen advised the honorary fraternity with Jim Wheatley, Betty Lanter, Marge Doman, and Carol Gerrond serving as officers.

Every club has its committees, and impromptu meetings may be held anytime, anywhere. Jim Wiltz, Karen Brown, Janel Schweigert, Alice Weizoecker, and Bill Seymour pose on the steps of North Hall to discuss some unfinished business.

Members of the Art Club seem to find the paintings being discussed amusing. Wonder who painted them?

Christmas cards designed festively with the Madonna and Child, or holly and St. Nick, a lavishly decorated gym for the Beaux Arts Ball, and an outstanding Homecoming float were the major activities for the Art Club. To broaden interests and for practical experience in the field, the art majors actively participated in this departmental club.

The officers were Nancy Swinfin, president; Jerry Caruso, vice-president; Helen McKenna, secretary; and Donna Carby, treasurer. Miss Mary R. Parker was the sponsor.

Whether you like parties, picnics, movies, or speakers, the Business Education department offers its members a well-rounded program in its departmental club. The float entered in the Homecoming parade won first prize this year.

Officers for the year were Darrell Dickey, president; Carol West, vice-president; Georgia Powell, secretary; Carolyn Marth, treasurer; and Miss Marie Jessa, sponsor.

Dorrell Dickey reads the objectives of the Business Education Club to the other officers and Miss Jessa.

Canterbury Club

A group of Episcopalian students gathered monthly at Dr. A. W. Watterson's home to discuss religion and Christianity in order to deepen their understanding of their faith.

Affiliated with the National Canterbury Association of the Episcopal Church, the campus organization was guided by President Fred Sears; Vice-president John Holcomb; Secretary Margaret Lewis, and Treasurer Lois Dick.

Christian Science Organization

President Barbara Purnell presided at the meetings of the Christian Science Organization. Other officers were Andrew Purnell and Jack Murry. Dr. Helen Marshall met with the small religious group to listen to appropriate lectures and to hold informal discussions.

The members of the Christian Science Organization peruse a new book and talk over the ideas of the author.

"Won't you have some candy, Miss Nance?" asks Edith Mabry.

Community, school, and personal projects are the main activities for the Elementary Education Club, the largest departmental club on campus.

Led by Marjorie Brubaker, President; Edith Mabry, Vice-President; Mary Broomfield, Secretary; and Betty Bauerle, Treasurer, the club is a branch of the Association for the Childhood Education Association International. Miss Nance, the head of the Division of Elementary Education, is the sponsor.

Any student interested in the various facets of literature would have found the repertory for the English Club very appealing. This year the calendar featured lectures by guest speakers, student discussions, and several excursions to the Illini Theatre plays in Champaign.

Gloria Ketchmark, Marty Schlueter, Mildred Strobel, and Floyd Frantz were the officers chosen to assist Dr. Milford Jochums, club sponsor.

Foreign Language Club

Future Teachers of America

The understanding of the languages and customs of the world was one of the aims of the Foreign Language Club. Already prominent in campus activities, the newly organized club has participated in the Homecoming parade and the Women's League Spring Carnival. Dale Finnell, Farren Stover, Velta Jaunzems, and Maynard Saxby were the officers. Helen Chiles was the sponsor.

An opportunity for having fun, gaining educational knowledge, and participating in programs awaited members of Future Teachers of America during the year. The ISNU McMurry Chapter, organized in 1946, was headed this year by Jeanette Fawley, Sarah Zimmerman, Georgia Powell, and Marianna Grussing. A varied year's program included an enjoyable Christmas program and the Ninth Annual Birthday Banquet.

Jeanette Fawley presents copies of the NEA Bulletin to Marilyn Jacobs, Mary Braamfield, Georgia Powell, and to the sponsors Ruth Huggins and James Becker.

The executive board of the Home Economics Club determines the policies for the departmental organization.

The majors and minors in home economics found the Home Economics Club provided social entertainment and broadened their outlook on the field of home economics. The club worked with others by entertaining Wesleyan at a meeting and helping a needy family at Christmas.

President this year was Mary Kridner. She was assisted by Evelyn Schnebly, vice-president; Malinda McKinley, secretary; Joyce Bradford, treasurer; and Dr. Blossom Johnson, the sponsor.

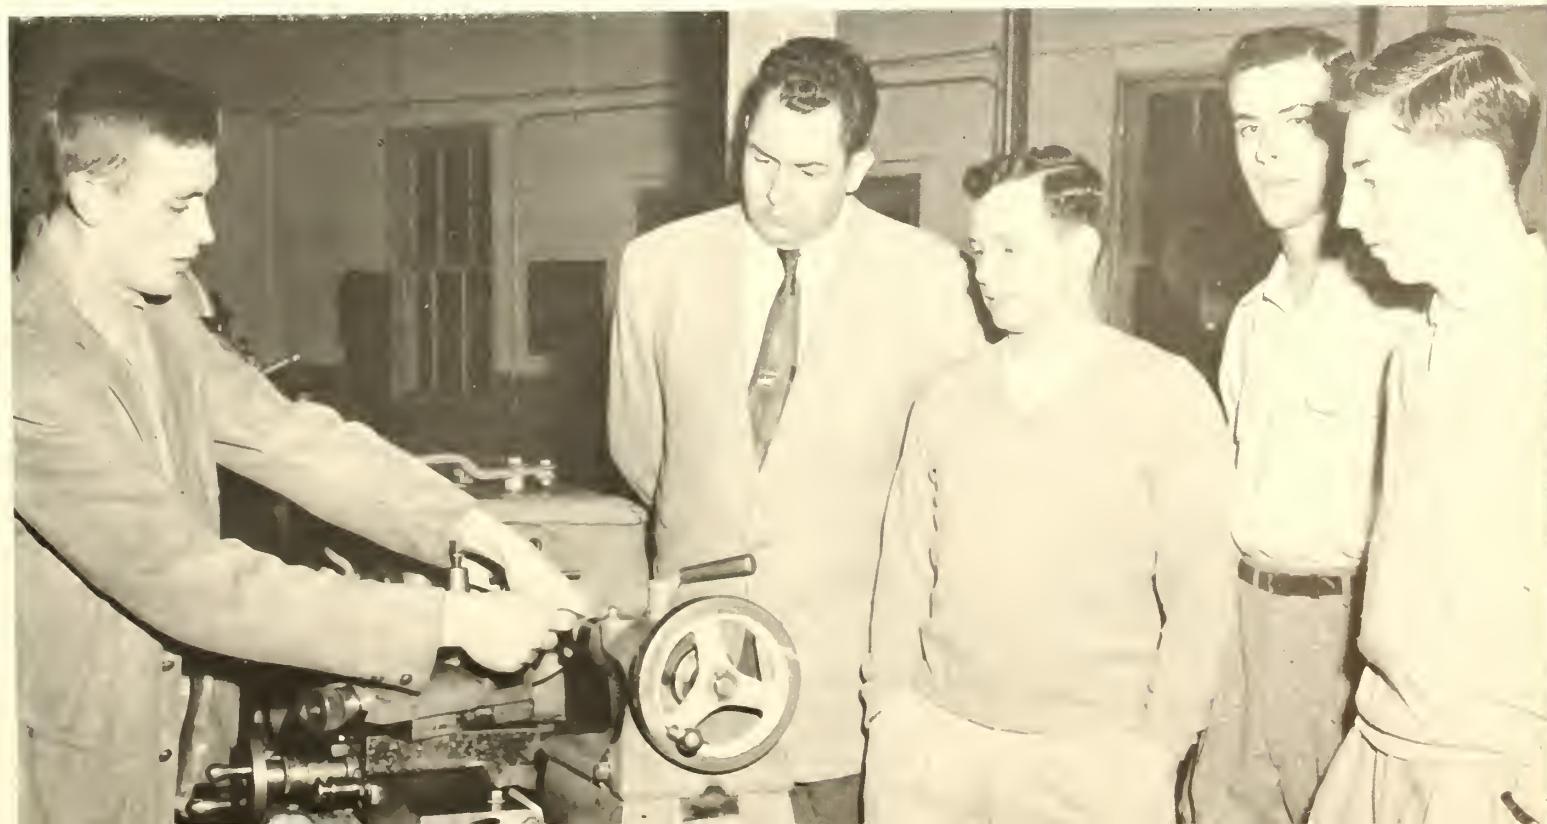

President Bob Fink presided at the meetings of the Industrial Arts Club, which was advised by Mr. Robert Hammond. Publishing a student directory and taking part in the Homecoming activities were the important annual projects.

Other officers were Cecil Oglesby, vice-president; Gerald Bramel, secretary; and Bob McKinley, treasurer.

Jesters

A newly-formed organization, the I.V.C.F., provided its membership opportunity for prayer, Bible study, and Christian growth. Exchange programs with Bradley, publishing a newsletter, and discussion of Biblical texts were indicative of their monthly activities.

Maynard Saxby, Frank Rusk, Helena Lampi, and Rosemary Shaw led the group with the aid of Miss Ruby Martz, sponsor.

The Jesters went to Chicago this year to see "The King and I" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream." This dramatics club also presented "The Taming of the Shrew" for the College Day assembly. Eligibility was granted through participation in University Theatre.

Miss Margaret Parret sponsored the group and lent assistance to Marge Doman, Jim Wheatley, Bob Stewart, and Patsy Kelley, the officers.

Marge Doman asks fellow Jesters if they have any preference for the plays to be seen in Chicago.

Trying out for the operetta is of major importance to these Lowell Mason members.

"I'm a Lowell Mason pledge; please accept me," sang the initiates during the beginning weeks of school. In addition to this little ditty, the pledges were requested to satisfy the numerous whims of the active members who later planned and directed the operetta. Granting a scholarship to a music student was another club project.

Presiding over the Lowell Masoners were Doris Griffin, William Seymour, Madelyn Case and Doris Moody. Faculty advisor was Mr. Herbert Sanders.

To teach us that we may teach religion as well as scholarship was the main objective of the Lutheran Club. Pete Pedersen led the group, assisted by Jerry Vankus, Joyce Boness, Virginia Stahr, and Dr. Victor Gimmestad, sponsor.

Since 1929 this organization has directed the spiritual lives of all Lutheran students and of some students of other faiths.

Lutheran Club holds a musical devotion at a bi-monthly meeting.

Harald Austin presides at a business meeting of the Maize Grange.

Maize Grange offered information concerning the very latest ideas in home economics and agriculture methods.

This organization, which is affiliated with National Maize Grange, has been active on campus since 1930.

Harold Austin, president, was assisted this year by Carol Schmidt, Joyce Armstrong, and Pat Woller.

This small group has been in existence only since 1951. During that time it has taken over sponsoring an open house for the alumni at homecoming and sending a CARE package to foreign countries.

Melissa Ritter, Mercedes Tompkins, and Peter Martin were the chosen leaders for this year's program.

During the '54-'55 school year Mr. Carl Heldt sponsored the campus lettermen's club. Managing the McLean County basketball tournament and planning the annual spring formal kept the athletes of the "N" Club exceptionally busy.

President Roger Francour, Vice-President Dick Bruno, Secretary Vernon Kaliher, and Treasurer Robert Becker were the elected officers.

Insects, rocks, the formation of the prairie—all were topics of interest to the members of the Naturalists. The organization was open to any student wishing to know more of the natural sciences. Gloria Hickman, president, with the aid of Norman Richards, vice-president, and Bonnie Jackson, secretary-treasurer, guided the club in participating in campus activities. The club was sponsored by Dr. Donald Ries.

Social Science Club

Managing the homecoming parade and participating in the annual stunt show and in the carnival occupied much of the time of the Social Science Club members.

This year they were lead by Bob Lekavish, Charles Hayes, Barbara Beazley, and Ambrose Virgo. Mr. Leland Hess was their advisor.

Barbara Beazley, Ambrose Virgo, Mr. Leland Hess, and Bab Lekavish listen to Dr. Benjamin Keeley, guest speaker, who illustrates his talk with records.

Al Larsen reads a letter concerning the placement of students of the Lake Comp to members of the Special Education Club.

Anyone interested in any of the six fields of Special Education was invited to join the departmental club. Regular coffee hours provided the opportunity for hashing over problems concerning a Special Ed major.

Under President Al Larsen, Vice-President Bill Dwyer, Secretaries Helen Nickoley and Kay Eich, and the sponsors Doris Richards and Edna Engberg, the large group had a variety of programs for their meetings.

The Student Council, governing body of the University, held bi-monthly meetings to discuss matters of concern to students and administration.

The organization, under the sponsorship of Mr. Arlan Helgeson, was led by Roger Hufford, president; supported by Dick Bruno, vice-president; Thelma Hari, secretary; and Bob Srncik, treasurer. These representatives of the student body were elected by their departments in an all-school election.

Have you ever wondered who planned the Big-Four dances, Dad's Day, the Stunt Show, or the Christmas Service? They were jointly sponsored by the University Club and Women's League; however, the all-male organization also scheduled a multitude of events for men only.

This year nineteen men who served as committee chairmen received pins. Larry Efaw accepted the task of guiding the group and worked with Phares O'Daffer, Joseph Hughes, and Ralph H. Linkins, Dean of Men and sponsor of University Club.

Women's League

Women's League is the service organization of all women on campus. The officers and appointed committee chairmen represent the coeds as an Executive Board.

Providing a campus sister for every girl and co-operating with U. Club to publish Campus Cues for new students are of prime concern to this female group.

Business Education

Efficiency is of primary importance to a student in the Department of Business Education, headed by Dr. Lewis R. Toll. With such a varied program as one consisting of shorthand, typing, business law, and accounting, unusually versatile teachers are produced. With headquarters in Cook Hall, the majors will find advanced economics and business finance difficult but important for their work in the field of Business Education.

Education and Psychology

Required hours in education are sometimes supplemented by other elective courses in the department directed by Dr. Chris A. DeYoung. From introductory classes in American public education and educational psychology, students proceed to gain a knowledge of the philosophy of education and student teaching.

Every student is indirectly associated with this department. A varied and comprehensive course of study thoroughly prepares the future teachers.

Charles Imig, Mr. Wallace Ramsey, and Stan Peters instruct Mary Lou Grunwald in the use of a reading acceleratator.

Elementary Education

Only an elementary major may carry a butterfly net, a cyanide jar, clay, a half-finished lesson plan, and the notes for a resource unit all at one time. The diversification of subject matter is a distinctive feature of the elementary curriculum.

Under Dr. Helen Nance, the head of the Division of Elementary Education, the prospective teacher will observe, participate, and do student teaching in the grade of his choice.

Rito Berg points out to Betty Bourle the possibilities of using a poster in the classroom.

English

Being one of the well-read students on campus is the result of studying in the field of English. The English major has an opportunity for increasing his knowledge of the best in literature plus receiving guidance in the way of composition. Dr. Herbert R. Hiett heads the department, which is located in North Hall.

All students become acquainted with the department of English during their freshman year when they take the required composition or literature courses.

Dr. Hiett advises June Clark and Jock Martin as they plan their programs.

Professor of Biological Science, Head of the Department of Biological Science.
A.B., A.M., Ph.D., University of Illinois.

Foreign Language

Learning about a country is just as important as learning its language. The Foreign Language students have opportunity not only to learn how to read, write and speak these foreign languages, but under the direction of Dr. Jennie Whitten they increase their understanding of the people by reading about their customs, geographical location, and their ideas.

Judy Kreuser, Joen Goss, Dole Finnell, and Dr. Whitten examine a chart of foreign phrases.

Top Row:

MARSHALL, DALE L.

Instructor in the Teaching of Mathematics. B.A., M.S., University of Iowa; University of Dubuque; University of Syracuse.

Geography

The economics of India, South America, or Russia are familiar to the geography major or minor. Even a sudden change of weather can be explained by the students of Dr. A. W. Watterson.

The interesting exhibits and weather instruments in North Hall very aptly characterize the activities of the department.

Kent Doan, Bill Griffith, Sid Stevens, and Dr. Watterson pause to investigate an apparatus.

Home Economics

The tantalizing aromas drifting into Old Main via West Bridge are indicative of the work of home economics majors. Concentrating their efforts on cooking, sewing, child care, and home management, the students of Dr. Florence Davis also assemble the informative and attractive bulletin boards near Capen Auditorium.

Senior students have practical experience in the Rambo Home Management House.

Dr. Davis instructs her students about the advantages of a gadget for the sewing machine.

REITAN, EARL

Instructor in Social Science.
B.A., Concordia College, Moorhead, Minnesota; M.A., Ph.D., University of Illinois.

Industrial Arts

Amid the piercing scream of the buzz saws and the rhythmical hammering of nails, industrial arts majors work on projects which may range from turning out small knick-knacks to re-upholstering some furniture.

Dr. R. M. Stombaugh helps the students to plan their programs in the areas of carpentry, metal work, electricity, and drawing.

Charles Moser, Bob Thorstenson, and Dr. Stombaugh view the demonstration of a band saw presented by Mr. Porter.

Library Science

A complete knowledge of library service is imperative for the students of Miss Eleanor Welch. Helping to choose the right book for each individual is just one facet of the program. Learning to use the available reference material and grasping the management of a school library are all a part of the curriculum of the Library Science Department.

This fairly new field in the University has as its major aim to prepare students to be teacher librarians.

Miss Welch emphasizes the importance of the card catalog to Melissa Ritter, Peter Martin, Betty Kershaw, and Gloria Ketchmark.

Associate Professor of Music.
B.S., State Teachers College, Trenton, New Jersey; M.A., Teachers College, Columbia University; Ph.D., New York University; Rutgers University.

Mathematics

The future Einsteins of the Mathematics Department begin their career at ISNU with geometry and algebra. Learning the theorems, formulas, and tables, they progress to advanced calculus and trigonometry.

Dr. Clyde McCormick heads this department and advises his majors in selecting their electives in the history of mathematics and techniques in teaching.

After completing the thirty-two required hours, the math students are prepared to teach or continue their study.

Dr. McCormick indicates the measurement of a sphere to Mary Lou Brucker, Linda Huber, Roger Hufford, and Frank Rusk.

Men's Health and Physical Education

Physical skill, intelligence, and interest combine to make the health and physical education majors of Dr. Clifford Horton.

Advanced courses in kinesiology and in officiating prove helpful to the potential teachers and coaches. Individual and team sports are included in special activity classes.

Dr. Horton illustrates to his majors the finer points of a hand dynamometer.

Music

The strains of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony heard in the halls of Old Main provide study for the music students. Theory of music, group instruction in voice and instruments, conducting, and history of music are integral phases of the curriculum. The Music Department also works with the University Choir, the Women's Chorus, and the Men's Glee Club.

The music majors have the choice of being either a vocal or an instrumental student. Participating in some of the music organizations is a must for all of Dr. Emma Knudson's majors.

Dr. Knudson accompanies to the conductors' batons as her class practices conducting a symphony.

Social Science

476 A.D. has important significance to the students of Dr. John Kinneman, the head of the Social Science Department.

All students are required to study contemporary civilization and some American history. Majors progress still further into European history, economics, and sociology. Electives are chosen by each student according to his special interests.

Discussing the recent elections, Dr. Kinneman expresses his personal opinions to Dan Huntress and Gregory Maltby.

Special Education

Beginning with a survey course and advancing into psychology, anatomy, and fields of specialization, the students of Dr. Rose Parker find their extensive program motivating.

Special education majors study with exceptional children, mentally retarded, and physically handicapped students. The Division of Special Education prepares teachers in both their special fields and in the elementary grades.

Diane Montgomery, Miss Hughes, and Dr. Parker work with a student in a sightsaving class.

Dr. Holmes informs Bob Wilson, Solly Brommer, Jim Bockes, and Celia Kraft about the structure of the larynx.

Speech

Voice and diction, public speaking, discussion and debate, and dramatic production are all basic features of the Speech Department.

Dr. F. L. D. Holmes advises his majors in completing their thirty-four hours and in electing courses in radio, and speech re-education.

Dr. Esther French demonstrates the correct method of gripping a badminton racket.

Women's Health and Physical Education

Variety is the spice of life. The physical education major will affirm such a comment. Their activities vary from the usual basketball, volleyball, and baseball, to modern dance and camping.

The students of Dr. Esther French later apply their skills in junior participation and student teaching in elementary and secondary classes.

The Senior Class

President John Halcamp, Vice-President Dick Wuthrich, Secretary Barbara Schnarr, and Treasurer Joan Hubert were the officers elected by the seniors.

Culminating four years of planning together, the senior class advisory board congregates to make arrangements for the final fling on skip day and for commencement.

What, o receiving line?

The advisory board and the officers of the freshman class organize their agenda for the next four years. President Jack Fischer, Vice-President Archie Douglas, Secretary Pat Paterson, and Treasurer Pat Mahaney help the advisory council to direct parties or dances, and put into operation their maneymaking ideas.
